POLICE SEEK ELWELL LOVE, CARD RIVALS

Theory of Suicide Is 'Abandoned.'

New York, June 13.—The theory of suicide was virtually abandoned by the police tonight in the mysterious death of Joseph B. Elwell, wealthy turfman and noted whist authority, who was found in his home last Friday with a bullet wound in his head.

Instances of many of the sportsman's friends that jealousy may have played an important part in the supposed murder stirred the twenty-five detectives on the case to renewed activity in tracing his women acquaintances, and men with whom he played bridge for high stakes.

The police are seeking two clubmen, both acquaintances of Elwell. One of them, the police said, had left the city. According to the police, the missing man had made arrangements for his departure the day before the murder and had left about the time Elwell was killed.

Changed Locks on Home.

A thorough search of the house failed to produce the slightest clue, not even a finger print, Police Captain Walsh, who is in charge of the investigation, said.

Assistant District Attorney John T. Joyce today belittled the report that women friends of the dead man now had keys to his home. He said there were only two keys, one held by the housekeeper and the other by Mr. Elwell.

Keys held by some women visitors, who learned, had been made obsolete six months or more because of the change Elwell had made in the lock, putting an end to unannounced visits. Changes in his relations with possessors of the keys or embarrassments resulting from unexpected calls are supposed to have resulted in the change of the lock.

Polish Countess Quizzed.

Several additional persons who knew the whist expert were questioned at the Elwell home today, among them Countess S. De Szinawski and her sister, Mrs. L. Hardy. Neither would discuss the case.

According to Mr. Joyce, the sisters, who were born in Poland, met the turfman in Czechoslovakia, early in the war. The two women left Czechoslovakia in September, 1914, and came to New York. A short time later, Mr. Joyce said, Elwell returned to America.

Friendship Was Broken.

The countess and her sister admitted the assistant district attorney said, that their friendship with Elwell was broken after they heard he had made a remark associating them with German interests. This resulted, Mr. Joyce said, in the detention of the countess as an enemy alien two years ago.

Their friendship was never resumed, they said, although Elwell had gone to Washington and straggled out of the war. The two women left Czechoslovakia in September, 1914, and came to New York. A short time later, Mr. Joyce said, Elwell returned to America.

Who Killed Elwell?

Some of the turfman's friends admitted the theory that he had been murdered by "a father of a husband." Regarding reports that Elwell had been engaged in race track feuds, Mr. Joyce said:

"All that I have learned points the other way. They all say he was very generous in all his dealings on the turf and had no enemies there."

It was learned that the day before the death, Elwell sold one of his race horses to G. C. Winfrey, formerly a trainer in his employ, for $5,000. He received the payment in cash.

"An Eye for an Eye."

Walter Elwell, a brother of the murdered man, who is leaving no stone unturned to solve the mystery, said today:

"We believe in 'an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth' every time. We will do our utmost to run down the murderer."

The brother was present when Mr. Joyce was reviewing some of the statements which had been made about the life of the dead man.

He made no objection when intimacies were rejected, and said: "That's all right. Go right ahead. I want you to have all the information you can get. It will all help in running down the guilty person."

Mrs. Elwell, the estranged but not estranged wife, said today:

FOUR CHILDREN DRIFT 25 HOURS; SAVED IN LAKE

Boy of 9 Proves Self a Hero.

Detroit, Mich., June 13.—[Special.]—With the prayers of 1,500 male passengers mingled with the sobs of hysterical women, the four children who had been adrift in a small row boat for more than twenty-five hours in Lake Erie were rescued by the steamer City of Toledo shortly before noon thirty miles from shore.

The children drifted from Lakeside, Mich., at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, and while they were far from land two of them who got out of the boat were rescued by 9 year old Merwin Daso, one of the party.

The children are: Robert, aged 8; Richard, 6, and Merwin, 9, sons of Merwin Daso, 2405 Maplewood avenue, Toledo, and Violet Sperry, their first cousin, 11 years old, who had been living with the Daso family at Lakeside.

Tells of Experience.

Squatting on the second deck of the steamer, the hero of the adventure told the passengers just how it happened. They started out from Lakeside with a broken car and two sticks, intending to push themselves along the shallow shore. Soon they were a long way out, he told the passengers, and with a wind blowing they could not get the boat headed back for Lakeside.

Violet was suffering from the sunburn Saturday afternoon and did "a lot of crying," Merwin said. Late in the afternoon she conceived the bright idea to get out and push the boat.

She could not touch bottom, of course, and Merwin was afraid she was going to drown. When she was unable to climb back into the boat and the boy found it impossible to pull her in he placed a rope around her waist and tied it to the bottom of the boat.

Finally Gets Girl in Boat.

For a long time Merwin said it "r-r-r" would have to trail along the water, but Merwin finally succeeded in getting her into the boat. With her clothes soaking wet Violet was "about all in," Merwin told the passengers and soon went to sleep.

Saturday night "Bob" got into trouble. He insisted in pulling about the flat bottomed craft and fell overboard. Merwin at once plunged into the lake and keeping one hand on the boat caught Bob by his rompers and pulled him back in.

Bob soon went to sleep and Violet woke up. Violet proceeded from the rear to the front of the boat to see how Bob was getting on and nearly fell overboard. Merwin insisted that she "turn in" after that.

Merwin Takes Command.

As it began to get dark they all became frightened, but Merwin decided to take "command" and ordered the others to go to sleep, telling them he would wake them up after he had "done the trick."

During the night "Dick," Violet and little Bob took turns at watching for danger. Dick said that during his watch two tugs passed them and Merwin confirmed this, for he was awakened by a "first mate." They did a lot of hollering, Merwin said, but the tugs went on their way.

Shift Off; Burns His Back.

With the rising of the sun Sunday Merwin decided to take off his under-shirt, and placing it on the end of a stick, he held it for hours, hoping that a passing ship might pick up his party. The sun soon became too hot, and Merwin, unable to stand the heat of the rays on his bare back, pulled down the signal and again took to paddling.

When the city of Toledo have in eight Merwin and Dick, one with the broken car and the other with a stick, were doing their best to send the row boat along. They were going with the wind in a northeasterly direction and drifting farther into the lake. Violet was crying that she was hungry and had been putting the cold water on her blistered back, while Bob curled in sleep in the bow.

PANIC AT OPERA AS BOMB BLAST PERILS CARUSO

Audience Fights Its Way Out.

[Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.] [Copyright: 1920.]

HAVANA, June 13.—The audience at the National theater was thrown into a panic this afternoon, and six persons were seriously injured when a bomb exploded during the farewell performance of Enrico Caruso at a popular matinee. Hundreds were bruised and beaten in the rush to get out. Caruso was not injured.

The bomb, of a pressure of 20,000 pounds, was placed in a washroom gallery. It wrecked the acoustic box. Three walls of the washroom and some of the scenery crashed on the stage.

Take Caruso to Safety.

Caruso was in his dressing room at the time. He rushed out to see what the trouble was. Rudolfo Brazaile, manager of the theater, fearing that another bomb might explode, rushed Caruso in his costume to the Hotel Seville in an automobile.

The police say they have no explanation except that seats were being sold at a premium and the public had little opportunity to see or hear Caruso. Anonymous letters had been received by the management protesting against the price of from $35 up.

Theater in an Uproar.

The bomb was timed for the triumph scene in "Aida" in the last act, but the performance was forty-five minutes late getting under way and the explosion came as Besanzoni and Escobar were singing the famous duet in the second act.

In a moment the theater was in an uproar. Crowds swept aside police in the aisles in their rush for the exits. Women fainted and men fought each other. The gallery audience plunged down the stairway and many emerged with bloody faces and clothes torn to shreds. Women fell and others piled on top.

Police Reserves Called.

The police guard was unable to handle the situation. Reserves rushed to the scene to hold back the street crowds. Musicians scurried under the stage from the pit and when several appeared on the street their clothes were bloody and they carried battered violins and musical instruments.

The "supers," clad in costumes from the middle ages, rushed frantically out. Seek Hiding Place of Jewels.

Easthampton, N. Y., June 13.—A pick and shovel brigade tomorrow will begin a systematic search of the 100 acre estate of Enrico Caruso in an effort to discover the hiding place of half a million dollars' worth of jewels that were stolen from the tenor's home several days ago. The detectives plan to dig up every square yard of earth on the grounds, they announced, being confident that the missing jewels are secreted within the estate.

The guards were doubled tonight as a result of threats made against members of the family.

Three Killed in Airplane Collision in California

Port Bragg, Cal., June 13.—Lynn Melindy, San Francisco airplane pilot, and Wallace and Clarence Johnson, brothers, of Inglenook, Cal., were instantly killed today when an airplane in which they were riding collided with another machine.

Again the Truth About Russia

Frazier Hunt brought to The Tribune the first true news from Petrograd.

Henry J. Reilly has revealed the facts about Bolshevik Rule in the Ukraine.

Now John Clayton returns from a perilous sojourn in Moscow and writes of the Great Bolshevik conspiracy to wreck civilization.

His disclosures begin today on page 7.

Woman Reports Loss of Pearls Valued at $5,000

Mrs. Edwin P. Zeisler, 5124 Kenwood avenue, yesterday reported to the Hyde Park police that she had lost a string of pearls valued at $5,000 between 11 o'clock Saturday night and yesterday morning. She thought she might have lost the pearls while walking near her home.

Bubonic Plague Death Reported from Florida

Pensacola, Fla., June 13.—Following the announcement today by state laboratory experts that the death of George Gardina here on Friday was due to bubonic plague, steps were taken for a clean-up campaign in an effort to prevent a spread of the disease. Public health officials will begin extermination of rats.

ALBANIAN ENVOY, ESSAD PASHA, IS SLAIN IN PARIS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] [By Special Cable.]

PARIS, June 13.—Essad Pasha, president of one of the pretender governments of Albania, was shot dead at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the Rue Castiglione entrance of Hotel Continental by Rustem Avni Nelm, a 25 year old Albanian student.

Essad was stepping into an automobile when the assassin, hiding behind a pillar, raised his revolver and fired two shots. Essad received the first in the left side, whirled and caught the second in the right side and fell dead.

A porter at the Continental leaped on the murderer, taxi drivers joined him, and quickly subdued the man, who was taken by the police.

Interviewed by The Tribune, Rustem said he killed Essad "because Essad was doing Albania much harm. He had caused great suffering, and many Albanians had to be avenged." He said he was for a republic, while Essad was a despot.

The police theory is that the crime was instigated by a rival Albanian faction, which sent Rustem to Paris to do the killing.

Harding Lawn to Be Scene of His Notification

Marion, Ohio, June 13.—United States Senator Warren G. Harding will be officially notified of his nomination for the presidency by the Republican party at his home in Marion within the next few days, it became known today.

It also became known that Senator Harding will adopt the custom of former President McKinley and receive party leaders at his home for conferences during the summer. These conferences will be held on the lawn in front of the Harding residence.

Burnham Car Injures Man.

Daniel H. Burnham, the architect, turning out of Delaware place into the Lake Shore drive, ran his car into a taxicab driven by Harry Palmer, 301 Pritchett street, of 320 Galt avenue, who was in the cab, was seriously injured and taken to Passavant hospital. Mr. Burnham, who lives at 223 East Delaware place, was not held.

Herman Mitterheim of 1711 Sedgwick street was seriously injured yesterday afternoon when an speeding automobile crashed into his machine on the Green Bay road west of Waukegan. Mr. and Mrs. M. Schmidt, neighbors of Mitterheim, were slightly hurt.

Fail to Identify Victim.

The identity of a young woman killed by an automobile at Scott street and Lake Shore drive early Saturday morning has not yet been ascertained. The body, lying at Casey & Miller's undertaking rooms, 1904 North Wells street, was viewed yesterday by scores.

C. C. Besumer, sales manager of the Maxwell Motor company, who surrendered to the police Saturday with a story that his car had run over someone, was released on $10,000 bail.

GIRL TRAPPED IN MICHIGAN AVE. AUTO RUSH; DIES

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] [By Special Cable.]

MADRID, June 13.—Former Empress Eugenie of France is able to see much better than for years past, thanks to an operation for cataract performed since her arrival in Madrid, where she is the guest of her nephew, the Duke of Alba. Despite her 84 years, the former empress consented to undergo the operation, performed by Dr. Jacinto Barraquer, a Barcelona oculist, who invented an instrument for cataract removal.

The frailty of Eugenie permitted the use of only a local anesthetic. The surgeon made a slight incision in the cataract, applied cocaine, and then the delicate instrument, which acts on the suction principle, was used. After six days the obstruction was drawn aside without pain.

When the bandages were removed Eugenie was able to read for the first time in many years. The cataract cannot be removed entirely without cutting, therefore the ultimate success of the operation cannot be forecast.

Lewis Will Be Candidate for the Vice Presidency

Dallas, Tex., June 13.—Former United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois declared here tonight that he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for vice president at the San Francisco convention.

Boy Falls Under Car Killed.

Nine year old William Nelson, 1927 Balmoral avenue, died yesterday after the wheels of a motor car owned and driven by Gene Gust, a contractor living at 1946 Summerdale avenue, passed over him. The boy slipped from the running board of Gust's motor. The police did not hold Gust.

Earl Ginsburg, 7 years old, 7343 West Madison street, was run over by an automobile truck driven by M. L. Schannan, 4608 South Sacramento avenue, at West Madison and Hannah streets, Forest Park. The boy suffered a fractured skull, a broken arm and a broken leg.

Italians Flee Albania; Troops Rebel

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] [By Special Cable.]

PARIS, June 13.—Avlona and Fiume are the Adriatic eastern ports still in Italian hands and the Avlona garrison is surrounded and can not hold out unless given reinforcements.

The reinforcements cannot be embarked in Italy or Trieste owing to the mutiny of the troops and the attitude of the Socialists and laborites who are crying, "Down with the war."

Scutari, Antioari, Dalgino, and Tepelini have been evacuated by the Italians.

Message Italian Ships.

The Albanians are placing captured Italian artillery on Hill 115 and as soon as the guns are in position it is expected that Avlona will be forced to surrender as the Albanians will have the Italian destroyers now protecting the port under their direct fire while the gunboats cannot elevate their guns enough to reply.

Reports from Fiume state that the Serbian troops occupying Sussak are menacing the Italians, and Admiral Millo has asked reinforcement, fearing an attack. D'Annunzio is reported to have ordered his Arditi to remain on the alert to repulse a rush attack.

ALBANIAN REBELS LOSE

[Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.] [Copyright: 1920.]

ROME, June 13.—After a furious night battle, lasting over four hours, Avlona has been saved from capture by the Albanian rebels through a desperate bayonet charge by the Italian Alpine troops.

When the attack began, shortly after midnight on Friday, the city was already isolated, for all communications had been destroyed except from the sea. The Albanian insurgents, whose number is diversely estimated at 6,000, 10,000, and 15,000, had mined every road, blown up every bridge, and occupied all adjacent heights whereon they planted batteries of six-inch guns, wrested from the Italians earlier in the month.

Fire on Naval Base.

While the main body of besiegers approached within 800 yards of the town, these batteries directed a heavy fire on the naval base, which was vigorously replied to from the Italian warships. The shelling completely wiped out three villages and prevented the arrival of reinforcements.

At 4 o'clock the plight of the city became almost hopeless, owing to the treachery of the Mussulman element, who made a savage onslaught on the defenders from the rear.

When the Alpine corps finally put the rebels to flight, leaving behind them 200 dead, the Italians captured a battery of guns, and took several thousand prisoners, among whom were many Turkish officers and Albanian gendarmes.

Mayor Is Arrested.

They then proceeded to arrest Aly Ismail, mayor of Avlona, and all dwellers in the Mohammedan quarter, who were put aboard a steamer in port and immediately deported to the island of Sarena. Their fate is unknown. The residence belonging to Osman Effendi, former prefect of Avlona, who commanded the insurgents, and Cocos Kizim, his army chief, were burned.

During the battle the insurgents made deadly use of machine guns left by the French on evacuating Scutari and Koriza.

Thirty-seven Italian officers are missing, including Col. Gotti and Brig. Gen. Cavallo. Otherwise no particular Italian casualties are reported.

WEAR YANK UNIFORMS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, June 13.—The situation in Albania is considered most grave. "The Albanian insurgents have been strengthened by American equipped Serbians wearing American uniforms," says the Idea Nazionale, adding "it is true the offensive by Serbians and Jugoslav troops aims to chase Italy from the Balkans."

Avlona was attacked after the delivery of an ultimatum demanding evacuation by the Italians in twenty-four hours, but the insurgents were repulsed at the point of the bayonet, losing 200 killed and 1,000 taken prisoner.

The Italian casualties were small, but several minor Italian contingents were surrounded and some captured.

REPORTS QUIET IN TRIEST

LONDON, June 13.—Order has been restored at Triest, where demonstrations were held Friday night, as a protest against the sending of Italian troops to Albania, says a Milan dispatch to the London Times.

AMERICANISM AND HI COST CUT BIG ISSUES

Common Sense vs. Master Mind.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Developments yesterday not only banished all fears of a split in the Republican party, but revealed a state of harmony in support of the Harding and Coolidge ticket in a campaign which will accentuate these two issues:

AMERICANISM.

Senator Harding will attack the internationalism of President Wilson and make a strong appeal to Americans to take care of America first. He favors an association of nations to preserve peace, which he thinks can be best accomplished through an international court of justice, but he is unalterably opposed to committing the United States to any plan depriving the nation of its sovereignty or complete freedom of action in preserving its traditional rights and interests. Senator Harding also emphasizes the importance of the Americanization of immigrant aliens and the eradication of bolshevism.

REDUCTION OF THE COST OF LIVING.

The Republican candidate believes that permanent reduction of high prices can be accomplished only by compliance with the inviolable law of supply and demand and to this end will advocate measures designed to promote increased production of the necessities of life. Senator Harding believes that increased production will solve many of the economic problems of the day and this he regards the paramount issue of the campaign.

Fears of Split Gone.

Fears of a split in the party as a result of insurgency on the part of Senator Johnson of California, Senator Borah of Idaho, and their radical following were dissipated during the day. Senator Johnson departed for Washington after sending Senator Harding this telegram:

"Congratulations to you.

"HI JOHNSON."

While Senator Johnson would not discuss his attitude toward the ticket, there is excellent reason to believe that he will get in line for it in no unmistakable manner by the time the actual canvass begins.

Senator Borah also declined to talk, but it was learned from his friends that he does not intend to bolt and ally himself with a third party, but will remain regular and probably will stump the country for the ticket.

La Follette Out of Line.

The only sign of a bolt is in Wisconsin, where Senator La Follette appears to be promoting party disaffection. He is reported to be working in close harmony with the "Committee of Forty-eight" and William Randolph Hearst, who are planning the formation of a third party composed of ultra radical labor and farm organizations. La Follette might be nominated for president by such a party, which would aim to carry industrial centers and such radical agricultural constituencies as support the Nonpartisan league of the northwest.

Republican leaders are not alarmed by such signs of insurgency. Harding and Coolidge constitute a conservative ticket which the older statesmen of the party regard an asset instead of a liability, for they believe conservatism is going to be a popular quality to possess in this campaign.

Hold Democrats.

They believe the Democrats are going to adopt so radical an attitude in promoting the class domination of labor that the country, led by the vast majority of the farmers, business men, and small property owners, will go conservative with a whoop.

"I think our ticket will appeal strongly to thousands of Democrats when they find how radical and bolshevistic their own party is becoming," said Senator Brandegee of Connecticut.

Senator New of Indiana was jubilant over the evidence of party harmony.

"Of course I always thought that Harding was the best candidate," said Senator New, "and now that it is all over I find it very generally conceded that the best possible thing for the convention to do was done."

Tribute to Harding.

"Harding is a plain, sensible, sensible American citizen, a man with a big heart and wide understanding, who knows the needs of this country."

and who has his ear to the ground on the problems confronting the nation.

"Harding is no master mind. There are very few master minds in this country. The nation is fortunate and the party should rejoice that Harding is no master mind. Of master mind the country has had enough."

"You will now see a common sense American get into the White House with a practical knowledge of constitutional representative and popular government. You will see him surround himself with the brainiest cabinet the country has seen since the days of William McKinley. They will be John Hays and Elihu Root and Philander C. Knox in Harding's cabinet."

Will Not See Visions.

"The future president will not be seeing visions or hearing 'voices in the air.' He will be seeing things as they are in these United States, and will be listening to advice on the problems confronting him from the greatest minds with which he can surround himself."

"Harding will enter the White House with a feeling of deep concern over conditions to be met and a sense of deep responsibility to meet them properly. He knows now that in the great reconstruction to come as soon as the country passes from the control of the master mind, he cannot do the job alone. And he also knows that congress, the legislative branch, must take a cooperative part in the task. Harding understands congress and its responsibilities. Wilson has fought congress and has imposed his personal will in the government of this country."

"I know you hear a few disgruntled men saying today that the party might have done better. It could not have done better and within a few days the men who are inclined to be fearful will have their color off and be out for Harding and Coolidge in good old fashioned Republican style. We are on our way back in this country to government by the people for the people."

Congratulations From In.

Senator Harding's headquarters were flooded with telegrams of congratulation. Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, who had been a dark horse possibility for the nomination, wired:

"Am delighted with your nomination and will do all I can to secure your election."

Dan R. Hanna, prominently identified with the Wood campaign, sent this message:

"My Dear Mr. President: Congratulations and best wishes; also extend my congratulations to Mr. Harding."

Frank Hitchcock, one of the Wood managers, extended "heartiest congratulations," and similar messages were received from Herbert S. Hadley, a progressive Republican leader who fought for Roosevelt; former Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan; Henry B. Joy of Michigan; Judge J. C. Fritchard of North Carolina, and hundreds of others prominent in the party.

So far as known, no congratulatory message was received from President Wilson, but Vice President and Mrs. Marshall sent this telegram:

"Accept our sincerest personal congratulations."

No Fear of West.

By some it is said that while progressive Republican leaders undoubtedly will support the ticket it will be a different story with the progressive Republican voters of the west who will look up on the candidates as reactionaries.

In answer it is pointed out that it was the progressive west in the convention which led in the movement to put Harding over. That rampant, progressive state Kansas, whose delegation was captained by such old time Roosevelt leaders as Gov. Allen and William Allen White, plumped its entire vote for Harding on the ninth ballot and tried to start prematurely a stampede to the Ohioan.

It does not detract from the ardor of the Kansas acceptance of Harding to say that the object of the move was to land the vice presidential nomination for Gov. Allen, for Kansas progressives do not compromise with conscience for political preferment.

Other progressive strongholds which lined up for Harding were Iowa, Michigan, North Dakota, and Oklahoma. The move to balance the ticket with a western progressive was defeated by the western progressives themselves. For vice president Senator Lenroot received no support from the progressive west except a few scattering votes in

Democratic Chiefs en Route to Frisco

Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, Washington, and Wisconsin. Allen shared a like fate in the progressive west but voting for Coolidge were California, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah and Wyoming.

Plans Porch Campaign.

Whether Senator Harding will stump the country is a matter that will be determined by the national committee and the candidate. There is a disposition to advise the return to the tradition of McKinley, who believed that the dignity of the presidential office was cheapened by campaign "barnstorming."

The plan under consideration is that Harding shall remain at his home in Marion, O., receiving and addressing delegations, but shall make half a dozen major speeches on special occasions in such cities as New York, Chicago, Boston, Denver, and San Francisco. If this plan is adopted there will be no tour of the country by the candidate with speeches at every train stop.

Chairman Hayes of the national committee will meet with department heads today to get the plans for the campaign under way. One of the first steps will be the appointment of the new executive committee, seven of whose members will be women. The vice chairman of the executive committee also will be a woman. Harry M. Daugherty, director of the Harding primary campaign, requested the national committee to take "prompt, snappy, and energetic action" in getting the campaign started.

Credit to Lowden.

That the chief credit for bringing about the nomination of Harding yesterday goes to Gov. Lowden was revealed when the inside story of the agreement which did the business was told.

The Lowden managers, it appears, did not give up hope until the recess between the two sessions yesterday. They favored the recess in order to make a last effort to negotiate an agreement on Lowden. As soon as the convention recessed, Gov. Lowden got in touch with Gen. Wood himself to see whether the general was disposed to withdraw and throw his support to the governor. The general consulted with Col. William Cooper Procter, who advised against any withdrawal, asserting that Wood could win yet.

When apprised of Gen. Wood's decision Gov. Lowden promptly said: "Send for Senator Harding."

Governor Sees Senator.

The governor and the senator were brought together in Will Hays' office at the Coliseum at 3 o'clock. The governor said he had no desire to continue a fight which might prolong the dead-

ELEVATORS FAIL TO WORK AS FIRE STARTS IN HOTEL

New York, June 18.—(Special.)—When inmates of the Hotel Commodore, Lexington avenue and Forty-second street, last night attempted to escape flames which swept the west ballroom of the hotel, they found the elevators could not be operated. A near panic followed. There was a rush for stairways, which soon were clogged with struggling fugitives burdened with their most cherished belongings.

The arrival of the firemen calmed the hotel guests. The fire, which started from defective electric wiring, was extinguished after it had done damage estimated at $20,000.

Two Killed in Subway; One Bounded to Safety

New York, June 18.—(Special.)—Two men were killed and one was seriously injured when a car door on a Lexington avenue interborough express train flew open while the train was speeding past the Astor place station this afternoon. Three men fell. Two landed on the tracks and were run over by an express train that followed. The third struck against the walls of the subway and bounded back on the platform.

DEMOCRATS SEE HOPE AS RESULT OF G. O. P. ROW

Renew Talk of Harrison for Governor.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The Democrats appear well pleased with the Republican candidates and platform. The action of the Republican convention gives the San Francisco convention an opportunity and the Democrats a good chance of success, in the opinion of several leaders interviewed yesterday.

"The Republicans have made it a cinch for the Democratic nominees, whoever they may be," said William McCombs of New York. He was formerly chairman of the Democratic national committee and manager of the Wilson 1912 campaign.

Norman Mack, national committeeman from New York, said:

"The Democrats now have an excellent chance."

Ohio to be Democratic.

Edward H. Moore, national committeeman from Ohio, thought that Senator Harding will have difficulty in carrying his home state, Ohio.

"I am not making any claims," he said, "but if Cox is nominated at Frisco they see a chance 'to cop' the Pacific coast. Very few have been routed through St. Louis."

Chicago Democrats are as well satisfied with the Republican convention action as the easterners. They also think they see an opportunity to continue in national power. They believe the Republicans have aided the Cook county Democratic ticket.

"Many eastern delegations will go through Chicago this week for the Pacific coast. Very few have been routed through St. Louis."

WASHINGTON NEWS

—IN BRIEF—

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 18.

POSTMASTER GENERAL BURLINGAME hit back at the Republicans for their strictures upon his administration in the party platform. He declared that the Republican congress had pursued policies which, in a measure, had "strangled and throttled" the postal service.

REPRESENTATIVE STERNES of South Carolina, ranking Democratic member of the house appropriations committee, disputed the claim of Republicans as to savings in appropriations.

THAT congress is "hopelessly servile to interests which are draining the life blood of the public," was the assertion of the Plumb Plan league in a review of the recent congressional session.

ANNOUNCEMENT by the Curtiss company of the abandonment of the manufacture of commercial airplanes bears out statements before congressional committees.

the Thompson candidate for governor. Their information is that Gov. Lowden will seek to succeed himself, but they don't believe it. They think that Lowden will not be a candidate and that announcement to that effect will be made before next Sunday, but on the other hand they feel sure that the Lowden group will have a candidate for governor and that a hard campaign for him will be made.

Perhaps this candidate will be Congressman Smith, State Treasurer Sterling, State Auditor Russell, but they hope it will be Senator Sherman, because they hope Lowden to win over Thompson in the state fight and they prefer Sherman to any one prominently named for the Republican nomination. He to the Democrats has more weak spots than the others.

"Carter H. Harrison can beat L. Y. Sherman for governor this fall," commented William Graham, county controller, yesterday. "I haven't been with Harrison in twenty years, but I will go to see Harrison if Sherman is the Lowden candidate."

Mayor's Friends Boasting.

If Gov. Lowden goes into the state fight, as the Democrats anticipate, they expect it to be a hard and bitter that it will extend to Cook county offices. The mayor's friends yesterday were crediting him with defeating Lowden for the presidential nomination.

That is the principal reason for hoping for success in Cook county, but the Democrats see still other possible advantages.

Assume that the Lowden element wins the nominations for state offices. Then the Democrats can count on Thompson swinging his tightly controlled colored vote against that ticket.

If Lowden supporters should name the Republican county ticket, that Thompson colored vote would be Democratic, so far as it is deliverable on county affairs. If Thompson wins the county nominations, the Democrats expect the ticket to be of such a character that it will drive many Republicans to vote to the Democratic county ticket in November.

Judge M. L. McKinley will probably receive the endorsement of the regular Democratic organization for state's attorney.

These are typical of other Democratic expressions.

The local Democracy thinks it gained a decided advantage from the national convention. That is the split between Mayor Thompson and Gov. Lowden. They believe that Len Small will be

SPEECHES TELL HARDING'S VIEWS ON GREAT ISSUES

World Needs Return to Normal, His Idea.

While Senator Warren G. Harding has left the city, politicians are scanning his record on the big issues of the day in order to feel out the strength and weaknesses of the coming campaign.

As to the League of nations, Senator Harding is said to have tossed a coin to determine whether he would go with the "irreconcilables" or the Lodge reservationists. He finally joined the latter group. In an address on Americanism before the Ohio Society of New York Senator Harding had this to say:

"Many have thought the ratification of the peace treaty and its league of nations would make us normal, but it is a plea of the patent medicine maker, whose one remedy marvelously will cure every ill. Undoubtedly formal peace will help, and I will gladly repeat the day, if we sacrifice nothing daily American. Yet, as a matter of fact actual peace prevails and commerce has resumed its wonted way."

Normal World Needed.

"Normal thinking will help more. The world does deeply need to get normal, and liberal doses of mental science freely mixed with resolution will help mightily. I do not mean the old order will be restored. It will never come again. But there is a sane normalcy due under the new conditions to be reached in deliberation and understanding. And all men must understand and join in reaching it."

"Certain fundamentals are unchangeable and everlasting. Life without toil was and never can be. There can be no excellence without great labor. Lowered cost of living and increased cost of production are an economic fraud."

"Capital makes possible while labor produces, and neither ever achieved without the other, and both of them together never wrought a success without genius and management. No one of them, through the power of great wealth, the force of knowledge, or the might of great numbers, is above the law, and no one of them shall dominate a free people."

Views on "Reds."

"The insistent problem of the day, magnified in the madness of war and revealed in the extreme reaction from hateful and destroyed autocracy to misapprehended and Bolshevik democracy, like the pathos of impotent Russia, is the preservation of civil liberty and its guarantees. Let Russia experiment in her fatuous folly until the world is warned anew by her colossal tragedy. And let every clamorous advocate of the Red regime go to Russia and reveal in its criminal reign."

"We have been hearing lately of the selfishness of nationality, and it has been urged that we must abandon it in order to perform our full duty to humanity and civilization. We do not mean to hold aloof; we choose no isolation, we shun no duty. But I have a confidence in our America that requires no council of foreign powers to point the way to American duty."

"We wish to counsel, cooperate and contribute, but we arrogate to ourselves the keeping of the American conscience and every concept of our moral obligations. It is fine to idealize, but it is very practical to make sure our own house is in perfect order before we attempt the miracle of old world stabilization."

Views on Labor.

In his reply to questions put by E. J. Miller, secretary of the Baltimore and Ohio local federation of Newark, O., he said:

"I do not believe in any class domination, and the long fight to remove the domination of capital, now fairly won, is lost if labor domination is substituted in its stead."

He said on the Cummins bill:

"If the government, representing all the people, cannot guarantee transportation service under any and all conditions, it fails utterly. The government cannot provide just consideration of the workmen operating the transportation system, it fails again. It ought and must do both."

THIRD PARTY TO SELECT TICKET HERE JULY 10

"Committee of 48" Issues Call.

The "Committee of Forty-eight" announced last night that its national convention to nominate candidates for president and vice president and to formulate a platform will be held in Chicago at the Auditorium hotel, July 10. Notice to this effect was issued yesterday from the Chicago headquarters of the committee, over the signatures of George Record, Allen McCurdy, J. A. H. Hopkins, and Amos Pinchot.

Tells of Plans.

The statement follows:

"Whatever uncertainty existed as to whether there would be a new party candidate for president has been removed by the action of the Republican national convention."

"On July 10 a convention called by the Committee of Forty-eight will meet in the Auditorium hotel in Chicago and will adopt a platform and nominate candidates for president and vice president.

"The country faces a grave emergency which the Republican convention failed to meet. That convention ignored most of the serious problems and mentioned others only to reveal its unwillingness to face them honestly. The Republican party has now driven out of representation in its councils the millions of voters who followed Roosevelt, Johnson, and La Follette. The new party will represent these voters and will present a definite and constructive program."

"There will be representatives at the new party convention of all sorts of people. Farmers, wage earners, the professional class, the salaried class, the business man and the legitimate investor; all people, in short, who are against special privilege."

Taking Form Rapidly.

"The new party movement is taking form rapidly. It is already organized in more than thirty states and it will be prepared to put its electoral ticket on the ballots in every state."

There was a report yesterday that Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin was being considered as a candidate of a third party group that is already disaffected with the failure of the Republican convention to nominate Senator Johnson.

SINGLE TAXERS TO MEET.

New York June 13.—The Single Tax party will hold a national convention in Chicago beginning July 10, it was announced here tonight from national committee headquarters.

nounced here tonight from national committee headquarters.

The call for the gathering, which is signed by Robert C. Macaulay of Pennsylvania, accuses the Democratic and Republican parties of furthering summary legislation involving communism and paternalism equal in effect to the program of the Socialist party. Indorsement of the committee of forty-eight, which will hold a conference in Chicago at the same time, will be solicited, it was stated.

The committee on arrangements includes Herman G. Loew and E. Yancey Cohen of New Jersey, Arthur Morino of Rhode Island, James A. Robinson of Pennsylvania, Joseph Dana Miller, and Frank Chederov, New York.

LOWDEN URGED TO RUN AGAIN FOR GOVERNOR

Friends Hope He Will Stay in Illinois Fight.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

"What will Gov. Lowden do now politically? Will he be a candidate for renomination for governor? Will he determine to enter the race for United States senator? Will he retire from the political arena at the end of his gubernatorial term?"

These questions were on the lips of every Republican politician interested in state and local affairs, following the result of the national convention balloting.

They were answered by one of his closest friends last night in this fashion: "Undoubtedly the strongest pressure will be brought to bear upon Gov. Lowden to be a candidate again for governor. If he is there will be no candidate against him, except that put up by the Thompson-Lundin city hall machine. His job is cut out for him and that is to lead the amalgamated Republicans of the state who will not stand for the domination of the city hall in state politics. Against his own personal inclination, it is the hope and expectation of his friends that he will remain as governor for another term."

Fight City Hall for Senator?

As to the senatorship, we feel that Gov. Lowden could have that nomination without much difficulty, except that which will be made for him by the mayor's combination. The state would welcome a contest directly between Gov. Lowden and Mayor Thompson as opposing candidates. Such a possibility distinctly exists."

Had Gov. Lowden been nominated for the presidency, a dozen candidates for governor would have been prancing out on the field yesterday. As it was, the general opinion expressed by Illinois men was that nobody will start until after the Frisco convention is out of the way. The first day for filing petitions for state offices is July 16.

Lowden a "Good Loser."

The general feeling expressed in the post-convention discussions was that Gov. Lowden got everything in the convention but the nomination.

"Lowden is the best loser that ever showed in a national convention," said one of the old timers. "He figures now as one of the foremost men of the nation, and his time may yet come."

On the proposition that Gov. Lowden may be a candidate for senator, it was suggested last night that Congressman McKinley might go back to the house under such circumstances, from the Champaign district, leaving the fight a showdown between Lowden and the city hall's candidate, whether it be the mayor himself or, more probably, Congressman William E. Mason.

Governor's Speech Recalled.

It was suggested that the governor's statement before the state bar association in Springfield several months ago, when he said that he favored a single term for governors and presidents, or words to that effect, may have taken him out of consideration for renomination.

On the other hand, the argument was made that the governor has to go through with the development of his administrative code system, his roads and waterway program and his general policy of state administration, rather than to have it turned over to a Thompson candidate who might slip by with a divided primary field starting.

MAY PICK COLBY, WILSON'S ORATOR AT FRISCO MEET

Washington, D. C., June 13.—Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state, was being discussed today as the possible spokesman for President Wilson at the Democratic national convention at San Francisco.

The ticket headed by Mr. Colby, according to official returns from the citywide primary, announced today by John B. Colpoys, secretary of the central Democratic committee, won by an overwhelming majority over the so-called Bryan Democratic ticket. The vote for the Colby ticket was 2,868 against 358 for the opposition.

The district delegation, including twelve members with half a vote each, will go to San Francisco uninstructed.

HARDING GIVEN WARM GREETING AT WASHINGTON

To Remain at Capital One Week.

Washington, D. C., June 13.—Senator Harding was given a rousing welcome when he arrived in Washington today. A large crowd gathered at the station to cheer the candidate. Senator Lodge was the first person of prominence to leave the train. He was cheered, as were several others of Mr. Harding's companions. The Republican nominee was the last to leave the train. He bowed repeatedly to the crowd as he went to his automobile. Mrs. Harding accompanied him. Senator Harding plans to remain in Washington for a week or more, cleaning up his affairs before starting his presidential campaign.

SISTER LAUDS NOMINEE

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.]—"I'm not a speck surprised. I think my brother the finest man in the world."

The statement was made by Mrs. Carolyn H. Votaw, a sister of Senator Harding of Ohio, when she heard the news of the nomination of her brother to be the standard bearer of the Republican party in the 1920 presidential contest.

Mrs. Votaw, who is the wife of Dr. Herbert H. Votaw of Takoma Park, a suburb north of Washington, is a fellowwoman of the District of Columbia. Her name is carried in the latest city directory as "Votaw, Carolyn H., Mrs. Police, 30 Carroll avenue, Northwest."

Suburb Proud of Her.

The little suburb is proud that it numbers among its residents a sister of a Republican presidential nominee. As a member of the woman's bureau of the Metropolitan police department of the District of Columbia she is devoting her time to the moral uplifting of young girls. Her husband is a clerk of the senate committee on the Philippines.

Mrs. Votaw came to Washington several years ago from India, where she had been engaged in missionary work. She has been engaged in police work among young girls of Washington ever since the woman's bureau was organized by the late Maj. Raymond W. Pullman, former chief of police.

Will Continue Work.

She is an enthusiastic worker and said last night she would not give up "her girls" under any circumstances. During the period of more than a year Mrs. Votaw has been in the police-woman's bureau has helped many unfortunate girls and women to better their lives.

Mrs. Votaw is credited with being the originator of the "daily diary and catechism" which is used in this welfare work and is probably destined to find its way into the welfare department of other cities.

Speaking of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Votaw said the former had purposely remained reticent in society circles, as she preferred to

President Cleveland's Yacht Abandoned

ABANDONED in the Muskegon, Mich., harbor, its stern on the sand, rests the steamer Pathfinder. The men who hauled tons of fish over the railing in the last few years have given up caking the bottom and have run it aground to rest. There in the waveless bay it will remain, far from the sea, that caked its gunwales, far from the troughs of the ocean.

The Pathfinder was formerly the Ruth, named after the daughter of former President Cleveland. The ship—they called it a yacht then—was the Mayflower of the Cleveland administration and carried the president on all of his official trips. For years the boat was the flagship of the Chicago Yacht club, and later was turned over to ferry service on White Lake.

More recently fishermen used the craft on the great lakes.

Republican candidate, the Chronicle recalls that as long ago as last December it was prophesied that the ultimate choice would lie between Lowden, Harding, and Wood.

The Daily News thinks the selection of Harding reduces materially the heavy odds against Democrats in the presidential election and it declares the best electoral card they could play would be to persuade Hoover to accept the nomination in spite of everything.

MOTHER DEAD; SON SOUGHT. Chief of Detectives Mooney was asked yesterday to search for George S. Hill. A telegram from relatives in St. Louis stated, Hill's mother had died there.

PARIS WAITING HARDING STAND ON RELATIONS. (Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) (Copyright, 1920; By The Chicago Tribune.) PARIS, June 13.—Le Temps' leading article today says: "With the aid of the official machine Senator Harding finally triumphed."

The article recalls the nomination and election of McKinley and remarks that the declaration of the party regarding foreign policy goes back to the principles of McKinley, even of George Washington. It says the policy summed up is: "To fulfill our obligations in the world without sacrificing our national independence." Points out this copies the American idea of submitting differences between states to the supreme court.

In America it didn't prevent civil war, but "it is important to recognize this American tradition, if we wish to foresee the policy the United States will adopt perhaps next year, if Harding becomes president. To the league the Chicago platform opposes a project of international understanding according to which justice will be rendered between nations by impartial courts with a supplementary resource of convoking a general conference of the nations whenever peace is menaced."

WEALTHY AGED WOMAN FALLS 7 FLOORS TO DEATH

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ella Johnson, 71 years old, the mother-in-law of John A. Topping, chairman of the board of directors of the Republic Iron and Steel corporation, fell seven stories to death this morning from a window of her suite in the Hotel Beresford. Mrs. Johnson and her husband, Seth W. Johnson, a retired merchant of Muscatine, Ia., had begun preparations for a trip to their country home near Greenwich, Conn., and with a nurse, had begun packing trunks. After a short time, however, Mrs. Johnson declared she felt "fagged out" and went into an adjoining room "for a breath of fresh air."

Mr. Johnson and the nurse heard the window raised. Then, a few seconds later, they heard a medley of shouts from the street, where the body had fallen.

LENIN PANACEA FAILS IN RUSSIA; MISERY REIGNS

Commissar's Tyranny
Replaces That of Czar.

BY COL. HENRY REILLY.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)

(Copyright, 1920, By The Chicago Tribune.)
JERKIN, June 13.—Has bolshevism ameliorated the conditions prevailing in Russia in 1914? Any one visiting the territory freed by the Polish advance must answer with a decided negative.

This territory is part of the richest agricultural Russia, in the most advanced industrial and intellectual Russia.

The first step in the bolshevik program announced was destruction of the basis of existing society, permitting the building of a new social structure lacking all the weaknesses of the existing one. They have entirely succeeded in destruction, and have entirely failed in construction.

Under their rule industrial and commercial life virtually ceased to exist. Reduction of agriculture threatens starvation of the people in one of the richest states of one of the richest countries. Transportation facilities steadily are deteriorating. The story told of the food supply available is doubtful, even if it were reaching the starving cities.

Education Is Dead.

Education virtually does not exist. It is discouraged by a system which openly places the educated man below the uneducated. The people's morale is completely broken, because individuals who lost prosper the same as those who work, because the reward for a hard day's honest work is insufficient to provide the ordinary necessities and because the most successful are the least prosperous; because terror is the backbone of the government; because, while a small number of honest officials really believe in bolshevism, the majority are morally unrestrained egotists, always ready to take advantage of disorder with selfish, brutal instinct.

The great majority of the people hate and fear bolshevism. They do not want the old tyrannical regime restored, but they want the expulsion of bolshevism, because it equally is tyrannical. It fails to rectify the errors the revolution promised escape from, and, instead of showing a road to better conditions, points to a more hopeless future.

War and blockade are not a justifiable excuse for the complete breakdown, because a real blockade of Russia with its many land frontiers is impossible. Russia normally fed itself and exported a surplus. Germany, admittedly suffering considerably from the war's effect and continuation of the blockade, has an immensely greater square mile population. It produced no considerable food for its own people, and largely was dependent upon foreign trade, which supported its industry. Yet it has improved conditions since the war.

Russian conditions steadily have grown worse. Many foreigners have shown bolshevik sympathy because naturally hostile to the old regime. Liberals everywhere have sympathized with the revolution, even when the ignorant, downtrodden Russians pushed the revolution to its extreme, coupling to it a period of terror.

Not Like French Revolution.

It was compared with similar French revolutionary phenomena. There is a similarity in foreign support restoring the armies of Yudenich, Kolchak, and Denikin.

However, the ends sought are entirely different. Bolshevism is the antithesis of the French revolution. Abolishment of tyrannical restrictions and class privilege gave an equal opportunity and opened the way for individual development and rewards in France.

Bolshevism replaced the czar's tyranny with the commissar's tyranny. The tyranny remains for the average man. It replaced aristocracy with special privilege.

The failure of the recent plot involving the proposed overthrowing of Poland and the spread of bolshevism from the Ruhr district across Germany does not prevent future similar attempts. Provided Russia remains bolshevik, present conditions indicate it has fallen down, unless the bolshevik continue their military successes or obtain foreign recognition and trade. Constant inquiry in territory freed by the Poles yielded the information that the co-operatives virtually were under bolshevik control, have nothing to trade and probably will be compelled to take over the nationalized factories, because operation by the bolsheviks has failed. Recognition and attempted trading with the bolsheviks imply helping them to maintain their government.

Imported Frocks for the Belle of the Very Youngest Set

FOR YOUR OWN PARTICULAR MISS MUFFET

A cherry colored linen, every stitch by hand, like the children wear in London in the Gardens of the Kew. Such cunning sophistication in the Debutante of four this year—and yet, there is something of fairy and fairy tales about her frocks. In each flippant ruffle, in the rucks, pleats, flouncings, and gay wool flowers—most of all—in the colors, there is the spirit of childhood. And then, for "Sunday Best" there are the most dear dresses, very thin and very white, trimmed with fillet, Irish, pale pink roses, and streamers that flutter like one's heart when someone wears her first "real party dress."

POUR LE PETIT GARÇON

The clothes of the Small Son demand your interest. If Little Boy Blue wants the last word from across the water—it is to be jersey suits with great white buttoned round his waist, fitting as tightly and as brightly as possible. Trouser suits with pleated bottoms are good, too, being made of pumpkin color lines.

SING HO! BIB & TUCKER

"A short life—but a gay one" so crowns the small lord of creation, perchance with a bang of his rattle—for these are the things to be happy about; demure little dresses from a Paris boulevard; long clothes and short clothes, bonnets tucked and shirred! Likewise, when one goes for an airing, the most diminutive and dashing of costumes is a crêpe de chine coat, or a short matinee.

TRIBUNE MAN FINDS RUSSIA UNDER RED LID

Soviets Demand Favorable Articles Only.

Another impartial correspondent of the Tribune has returned from a trip to Soviet Russia. Mr. Clayton has seen Russia as no other correspondent has seen it in the last year. The first two weeks he was favorably impressed by other correspondents had been there he began getting at the bottom of things. He saw what the bolsheviks wanted him to see, but more important he saw the things taking place in Russia today which the bolsheviks were afraid for the world to know. His series will reveal the real truth about Russia today.

DODGING THE RED PLEDGE

BY JOHN CLAYTON.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)

(Copyright, 1920: By The Chicago Tribune.)
PARIS, June 13.—When I arrived in the Baltic states last winter under instructions to enter bolshevik Russia I already had circumstantial evidence on bolshevik intrigues, but the proof was not sufficient to warrant publication. I was confident I would be able to obtain in Moscow the confirmation which would permit me to give to this newspaper readers the inside story of the revolt of Islam.

I began at once my efforts to enter Russia. It was not long before I learned that any request to be allowed to make observations there as an impartial observer would meet with refusal. Word was sent me a few days after my first request that no member of the capitalistic press was permitted to enter the shrine of the world revolution.

I did not want to be the member of any pre-arranged excursion. I wished the opportunity to make investigations upon an independent standpoint as a journalist who neither is pro nor anti bolshevik, but who earnestly desired to find whatever there was good in the new Russian régime. On such a basis I was unwelcome.

Emma Goldman Helps.
I got in touch with the leaders of the Finnish Reds in Helsinki. From them I received credentials to the Finnish Reds in Petrograd and arranged to cross the Finnish frontier without permission either of the Finnish or Russian government. Meanwhile I had seen Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman at Hango and again at the frontier, and I had asked them to recommend me to Tchicherin, the commissar of foreign affairs in Moscow.

My first effort failed. It was not until March 13 that I succeeded in convincing the soviet government through my conversation, and not through direct promises, that they could trust me to write only favorable articles. For the soviet government doesn't want the truth told about Soviet Russia, nor is it particular as to the truth of the details in its statements to the press.

Emma Goldman's Assurance.
On my arrival in Petrograd I learned from Emma Goldman that Tchicherin had asked her to guarantee that I would not write anything unfavorable to the soviet government. This she said and would not do.

I can assure you of the friendly at-

POLES QUIT KIEV

- 1—The bolsheviks have broken the Polish lines below Kiev and have forced them to evacuate the city. Fighting is general all along the railroad.
- 2—The Reds are also hitting hard north of the city.
- 3—Warsaw reports the evacuation of Kiev to new lines.
- 4—The Kiev-Moscow railroad is the only line which is now open out of the city.

Attitude of Clayton and of his reliability," she told Tchicherin. "I can guarantee that he will write nothing but the truth. If all the truth is favorable, then he will write nothing unfavorable."

But such a guarantee was insufficient. It was not until another correspondent, who has been in Russia many times, gave the necessary assurance that I was permitted to enter the country.

Under a Guard.

From the frontier to Moscow the newcomer practically is under the guard of the courier with which he enters. When I arrived in Moscow I at once was placed in charge of an interpreter who in the case of most correspondents also is a military guard. Fortunately I was permitted to leave my residence without my interpreter, but I couldn't talk with any member of the government through a man of my own selection. They assign as interpreters only trusted communists who can guard against any slips on the part of the commissars.

The censorship is terrific. When I arrived in Berlin after my return from Moscow I found only those articles particularly favorable to the bolshevik government had been transmitted. No word of criticism had been allowed to pass.

Censor Warns Him.

I wrote a little criticism of the Red régime after my first experience with the censor on my second day in Moscow. Rosenberg, chief of the western department of the official press censors, said:

"If this is the sort of thing you are going to write," referring to one of my stories, "your stay here will be short. You will not be permitted to see Lenin or Trotsky. They cannot waste their time with your sympathies such as they are."

He told me the story he had objected to had been sent, but it never reached the outside world.

I filed about 30,000 words in Moscow and attempted time and again to get some truth past the foreign office. Of this amount less than 7,000 reached THE TRIBUNE.

Other stories by Mr. Clayton will follow soon.

POLES FALL BACK TO NEW DEFENSE LINE IN UKRAINE

Red Cavalry Massacres Peasants and Wounded.

WARSAW, June 13.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Polish forces, carrying out orders to retreat to a new line of defense in the Ukraine, have completed the evacuation of Kiev, having previously destroyed the bridges over the Dnieper, according to an official statement issued today.

Fall Back in Good Order.

The realignment is proceeding in perfect order, the statement says. North of Kiev the Poles are battling against the bolsheviks, who are endeavoring to cut the Korosten-Kiev railroad to join forces with the cavalry of Gen. Budenny, which is striking northerly from the region southwest of Kiev. Fighting is general all along the Berdichev-Fastov-Kiev railroad.

According to latest reports, the territory in this region is changing hands daily.

Peasants and Wounded Slain.

In a dash to the northwest the cavalry of Gen. Budenny passed Berdichev, killing peasants on route. It proceeded as far as Zhitomir, where it is alleged the cavalry killed several wounded Poles in a hospital.

Fighting on the northern front has brought victory to the Poles, who have ousted the bolsheviks from territory gained in the recent offensive. The Poles are consolidating their lines from the Dvina southward along the Berdichev.

REDS BOLD RAIDERS

BY GEORGE RENWICK.
(Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.)
(Copyright, 1920.)

WARSAW, June 13.—A daring bolshevitz cavalry raid has brought about a unique battle southwest of Kiev. Gen. Budenny, who commands the Red army on the Ukrainian front between Dnieper and Dniester, reported to Trotsky his despair regarding the task of retaking Kiev. Trotsky's answer was to send him strong reinforcements and bid him attack on a certain date when his movements would coincide with important action elsewhere.

Out Railway Lines.

With a force of 5,000 horse on Wednesday night Budenny drove through the center of the Polish lines west of Byelaya Tselko. Once through he split his command into three detachments.

The three railway lines to Kiev were cut; Zhitomir was entered before the Polish general staff was aware Budenny was on the war path; farms were set on fire, railway lines ripped up, captured stores and rolling stocks destroyed.

Airplanes Halt Raiders.

Opposition finally was encountered from the Polish infantry posts, strong cavalry patrols and airplanes.

All yesterday strong forces of Polish cavalry were being dispatched against the three sides of the region held up by the raiders whose exploits are described as spectacular but not dangerous.

Poles Destroy Cathedral.

LONDON, July 12.—Before evacuating Kiev, according to the latest bolshevik communique issued yesterday, the Poles blew up the Vladimir cathedral, the railway stations, the electric power station, and the aqueduct. Destruction of the latter, the communique says, doomed the population to the horror of epidemics.

CABINETS FALL UNDER WEIGHT OF PEACE TERMS

Hard for Central Europe to Readjust Itself.

PARIS, June 13.—[Delayed.]—The simultaneous resignation of four European cabinets—the Italian, Polish, Hungarian, and Austrian—is viewed in official circles here to be significant as demonstrating the difficulty of adapting politics and economic conditions to the peace terms.

The immediate causes of the resignations were different in each case, but behind them, said a well informed French diplomat today, were economic difficulties and general unrest, with lingering pains on the part of the defeated peoples not reconciled to the sacrifices demanded of them.

Condition to Continue.

The young parliamentary governments, this diplomat declared, are likely to be susceptible to these crises for some time to come, until the political situation has crystallized and the various parties become so organized as to furnish homogeneous majorities behind the cabinets.

The diplomat pointed out that the older governments—Italy, for instance—were suffering from similar trouble during the transitory period of recovery from the war waste. The bread situation was given as the immediate cause for the resignation of Premier Stini, but this the diplomat said he did not consider to be the determining agency, but rather only one incident among many which, in the absence of any homogeneous majority in parliament, make the government of the country a most difficult problem.

Italy and Germany Chief Concern.
Of the five crises now in course of solution, only the Italian and German are giving concern here, official circles declared today. It was said the advent of former Premier Giolitti in the Italian situation provoked apprehension of a tendency on the part of Italy toward a separate policy with regard to Germany, while the German situation was being watched with the greatest interest because of the possibility of a reaction which might mean resistance to execution of the treaty of Versailles.

Heinze Rejects Ebert Proffer.
BERLIN, June 13.—Herr Heinze, the moderate Conservative, who was asked by President Ebert to form a new cabinet to replace the government of Chancellor Mueller, which resigned last week, renounced the task after meeting with opposition by the majority Socialists.

CONGRESSIONAL SAVING CLAIMS MEET DENIAL

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.]—Republican claims of savings in expenditures during the recent congressional session were disputed today by Representative Byrnes of South Carolina, a Democratic member of the house appropriations committee.

Representative Byrnes said if the statement of Republican Leader Mondell, that the Republican congress saved the taxpayers more than $1,000,000,000, is correct, "why have they not reduced taxes in a corresponding amount?"

Creating New Styles in Furniture

It is justly said that only the public can create a new style.

The artist and builder may develop new designs, but until their work has been accepted by the people it has not earned the right to be called a style.

We are warranted, we believe, in saying that the overwhelming demand for recent Tobey-made models has created a new style. These patterns are undeniably different and their enthusiastic reception by our patrons evidences the approval of the public.

The dressing table sketched above is from a set of this new series.

Here artist and designer have followed in Chippendale's footsteps, turning to Japan and China for decorative ideas to be adapted to the requirements of the day. The bamboo turnings, the ornament and decoration, even the cloisonne handles, specially imported from Japan, are characteristically Oriental in effect.

It comes in blue and black or with the ground color in an antique parchment shade with hand decoration in brighter colors.

Another Suit Offering; Same Great Reductions

THE great Clothing Sale of the last two weeks was so great a success—we had more demand than merchandise. So we're going to continue these great reductions by adding a complete assortment of sizes from our regular lines, together with the remainder of our stock of Society Brand Clothes.

We also have received and taken advantage of many concessions manufacturers offered—concessions that, before our bold move of two weeks ago, we would not have thought possible. This range will satisfy every one.

Our buyers have made a very expert selection with the result we are able to place on Sale this morning some of the season's finest Suits—in fabric, in tailoring, and in style—and continue these special prices of last week.

RADICAL CHIEFS OF LABOR BACK RUSSIA SOVIET

Fight Predicted at A. F. of L. Meet.

Montreal, June 13.—Labor leaders predicted tonight that the first big fight on the floor of the convention of the American Federation of Labor, now in session here, would come up on a presentation for debate of resolutions demanding recognition of the soviet government of Russia and the lifting of the blockade against that country.

The committee considering these resolutions, it was learned tonight, will recommend that the convention "refuse to endorse the soviet government or any other form of government" in Russia until the people there have established "a truly democratic form of government."

To Fight for Soviet.

The "progressives," headed by James Duncan of Seattle, are prepared to fight on the floor for recognition of the soviet. They will be supported, he said, by the International Ladies Garment Workers of New York and several other international unions.

Mr. Duncan, in a resolution, asks that the government "exert its best influence to the end that Japanese and all other foreign troops be immediately withdrawn from the territory of the former Russian empire" and that the commercial blockade be lifted.

Rap at Congress.

One of the first matters to come before the delegates will be the executive council's report, which states that "notwithstanding the need of masses of our country, congress failed to enact a single constructive measure that would aid in checking profiteering."

Alexander Howatt, president of the Kansas mine workers' organization, announced that he would fight for the adoption of his resolution condemning the Kansas industrial court.

CHICAGO UNIVERSITY'S YOUNGEST "A. M." GETS DEGREE TOMORROW

One of the youngest students to win Chicago in Leroy

H. Berard, who will be graduated tomorrow. He is just a little over 20 years old. He lives at 2659 West Chicago avenue. Berard, it is said, is to receive the degree because he spent most of his time both at school and out of school in study and physical exercises. "Perhaps," said one of his teachers, "that has something to do with his winning a master's degree at 20."

Eagle Racing Lion for Control of World's Oil

New York, June 13.—Claims of London financiers that British interests control 99 per cent of the world's potential oil territory outside the United States were denied in a statement issued here today by Thomas A. O'Donnell, president of the American Petroleum Institute, who has just sailed for Europe to attend the international trade conference.

"The American oil industry," he said, "has obtained many important holdings and concessions in Mexico, in South America and in Roumania, upon the future of which large investments of American capital are staked." The British oil interests, he declared, have had every assistance that their government could render.

Vote to Join Luxury of Longshoremen Strike

New York, June 13.—Members of the International Longshoremen's association voted today to support the coastwise longshoremen's strike, according to an announcement by John J. Riley, president of the district council of the association. The action was taken, he stated, at a meeting attended by delegates representing fifty-six locals.

LABOR PARTY NAMES TICKET FOR COUNTY JOBS

150 of 400 Delegates
at Convention.

The Cook county Labor party assembled in convention yesterday afternoon at Musicians' hall, 175 West Washington street, and selected candidates for county offices for the fall election.

Although about 400 delegates, selected "sovietwise" from various Chicago unions were scheduled to appear, when Secretary Sam Hammarmark rasped the convention to order there were not more than 150 persons in the hall.

"Green'll Run for Anything." The first name proposed was that of Thomas A. Green, as candidate for the office of state's attorney. William A. Rodriguez, former alderman, and Theodore Vind, prominent in the steel strike, spoke in favor of his candidacy and he was nominated.

"I move that the nomination be held in abeyance," suggested one delegate. "Green ain't here, and he might not accept."

"Oh, he'll accept alright," asserted Hammarmark, "he told me he'd run for anything from state's attorney to dog catcher."

William Riordan was nominated for county recorder, Frank Helle for coroner, W. S. Denell for president of the board of review, and T. P. Quinn and Martin Nelson for the board of assessors.

Nominate Two Women. Lillian Bernstein, Agnes Johnson and Chris Temple got the sanitary district trustees nominations. Albert Gould for county surveyor, Joseph Morris for clerk of the Appellate court, Albert Stewart for clerk of the Circuit court and Charles Meyer for clerk of the Superior court were also named. Robert Buck was nominated for congressman from the Tenth district.

RAIN FALLS ON SILK SHIRTS OF THE SOCIALISTS

Cook county Socialists opened their 1920 campaign to elect Eugene Debs to the presidency at a picnic in Riverview park yesterday. The slogan is: "Send Debs from Atlanta to Washington." All persons entering the picnic grounds were tagged to raise a fund to get Debs out of the federal penitentiary.

Seymour Stedman, the Socialists' candidate for vice president, spoke, undaunted by the rain. The audience waved high priced straw hats in approval, unmindful of the pattering drops which soaked their silk shirts and ruined the creases in their trousers.

"The railroads wanted Lowden, Wall street wanted Johnson," Mr. Stedman said. "The Republicans selected as a compromise Harding, a man without a record or a biography, because they thought it best."

We want to put ourselves on record here and now. Please mark these words.

The man who does not take immediate advantage of the amazing clearance prices now prevailing on men's clothes—whether ours or the other fellow's—will pay dearly for his delay.

These unparalleled reduction prices now sweeping the country simply cannot, and will not, remain permanent. All eminent business authorities agree on this. There are no fundamental market changes to justify these bone-deep cuts.

They are prompted entirely by the business expediency of moving stagnant stocks, regardless of cost. And he who does not act before this stock is gone is denying himself the rarest buying opportunity of a decade.

T-R-T

Ask any reliable friend of yours in the clothing business. He will tell you that our offer of a genuine made-to-order suit for $29.50—guaranteed all pure wool—is the most astounding clothes value in years.

Only the fact that we have had on hand great yardages of woollens—delayed three to twelve weeks—has created this sale, and encouraged us to take a losing business with a smile.

But an offering so far below the market cannot last long. So we publicly urge all our Chicago friends to act now—to act, before the setting of another day's sun. Delay will cost $10 to $15 a suit, or more.

We freely hazard all our carefully built good-will and standing in Chicago upon the rightness of this prophecy.

Henry H. Sires feels that his big chance is dead—and he would not bring it back to life. The girl wanted to help him out in his hour of distress, but he wouldn't have it so.

Sires, under arrest at the detective bureau on charges of stealing $50,000 worth of stock in a Detroit tailoring establishment, was at one time engaged to marry Miss Maybelle Gonzales, 311 South Marshfield avenue.

On the day the wedding was to take place, he took too much grape and forgot all about the ceremony. He didn't have the heart to go the girl again. He went away.

He returned to Chicago Wednesday with $260 in his pockets. He spent most of it on Maybelle, he said. She did not know it was stolen.

Sends Her Picture Back.

"Take her picture back to her," he said to a detective. "and tell her I'm on a long journey. But don't say I'm arrested. Just tell her to forget me, that I am not worthy of her."

Last night Miss Gonzales called at the detective bureau. She wanted to see Henry Sires.

"Lady to see you, Henry," said the detective.

Henry smiled, straightened his tie and his fingers over her hair. He said to her: "Tell her to come down."

He changed his mind.

Had Names of Seventy Girls.

"What's her name?" he asked.

There were any number of girls who might be calling—Henry had a book of seventy girls' names and addresses, and pictures of five of them. He hadn't asked anybody to take their pictures and tell them to get.

"What's her name?" he repeated.

"Maybelle."

"I" said Henry, and he sat down on the hard bench and hung his head.

"Maybelle. I couldn't see her. I couldn't face Maybelle. Tell her—O, say I'm not in. She'll understand."

Miss Gonzales said she couldn't understand the charges against Sires. She said his behavior had always been exemplary and there must be a mistake.

MEASLES KILLS, IS WARNING OF DR. ROBERTSON

Measles constitutes today one of the most serious problems with which health officers are confronted, says the current bulletin of the Chicago health department.

"It is seemingly the one disease preventive medicine has been unable to prevent or control," the bulletin declares, "and no doubt the failure to control it is due largely to the fact that people have not been properly educated as to its serious character as affecting child life."

"When people do not fear a disease they are apt to be indifferent and careless in protecting themselves against it. Some people are even anxious for their children to have these 'mild diseases' and have them over with," as they say. And this apathy, with ignorance as to the really dangerous character of measles, has contributed to making this disease what it now is. Measles kills. It is fatal especially to children under 5 years old.

"Measles attacked 15,000 children last year and killed 200 of them. There were 370 cases of measles during the week ending June 12 and three deaths."

Charles II, "The Merrie Monarch"

When Charles II became king of England great changes occurred in the styles and fashions of the time. The influences which had formed his artistic tastes during his wanderings as an exile in foreign lands were manifested in the furnishings and chiefly in the furniture which he imported for the decoration of his palace at Hampton Court.

The plain Oak surfaces and sturdy lines of construction which characterized the furniture of former periods began to disappear and were replaced by the spiral turning or twists in the legs of chairs, tables and cabinets, the most prominent features in the designs of the day.

The square, leather covered chair backs, which came into popularity at this time, were copied from the Portuguese and introduced by the "Merrie Monarch" in compliment to his Queen, Catherine of Braganza, a daughter of the royal house of Portugal.

Though handicapped for want of the turning lathe which had enabled the Dutch Wood-workers to bring the twist to such a high degree of perfection, the English cabinet makers soon acquired great skill in developing this style, bringing into prominence carvers like Grinling Gibbons, who appeared midway in the reign of Charles II. His work in carved and soft woods minutely realistic in detail but arranged in admirably decorative masses won for him during this period recognition as the greatest of England's wood-workers.

So rapidly did English cabinet makers forge ahead in perfecting this style that all masterpieces of the day with leather coverings, spiral legs and workings in Marquetry—features which distinguished the furniture designs of this period—came to be recognized as the work of English craftsmen.

POLICE SEEKING J. B. ELWELL LOVE AND CARD RIVALS

Sleuths Abandon Theory of Suicide.

divorced wife of the dead man, declares it is her belief a "woman is at the bottom of the murder." She scouts the theory that the bullet may have been fired by an angry husband.

"My husband did not select married women for his conquests," was a significant remark made by Mrs. Elwell. "I am as much at a loss to say who might have killed him as any one else. He was not of the disposition likely to commit suicide. I believe his death can be directly traced to some woman."

"I am strongly inclined to believe a woman, or women, for he knew dozens of them, to be at the bottom of the crime."

Question Cab Drivers.

Every taxicab driver in the district from Forty-second street to West Seventieth street, where Mr. Elwell lived, has been questioned by detectives, in an effort to find the cab in which he may have been driven to his home early Friday morning. The police are investigating a report that Elwell was seen in a cabaret after leaving friends with whom he had attended a theater party Thursday night.

"In all my twenty-five years' service in the detective bureau," said Capt.

Quincy, Ill., June 13.—Clyde Humphrey, 35 years old, sought by the police and a posse of farmers for the slaying of his 18 year old wife late Saturday night, shot himself through the head today when surrounded near Quincy. He died while on the way to the city.

According to the police, Humphrey shot his wife when she returned to the home of her father, Andrew Mahon, who resides near Quincy.

The police said he attempted to shoot her escort, but that the revolver failed to work.

Right-Posture Boys' Clothes

merit their excellent repute through unique and superior attributes—of which by far the most interesting is the exclusive Right-Posture feature—a patented device, built into the coat, that continually reminds the boy to "stand straight."

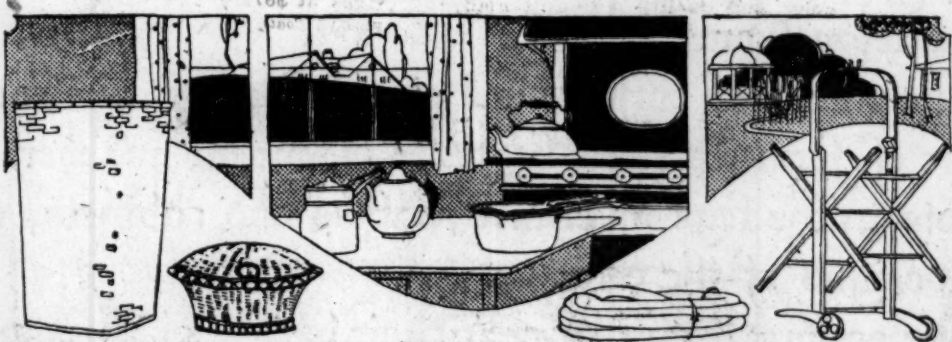

Thousands of parents approve the Right-Posture feature in the clothes their boys are now wearing—and their indorsement should encourage thousands more parents to clothe their boys in Right-Posture suits.

Right-Posture suits owe their superior style and fit to experienced designers who specialize on fashions for boys. The models are "youthful" and individual without sacrifice of any practical qualification.

Can You Get Motor Trucks?

THE crippled railroads long since ceased to function satisfactorily. And the motor truck rolled in to take their places. Now trucks are hauling their loads over distances up to 1000 miles.

These added labors, together with a shortage of materials, have caused a shortage of trucks. It is only the same stroke of fate which tied up the railroads that enables us to offer a few Kelly-Springfield trucks for immediate delivery.

These trucks, all new, were diverted from their original destinations by freight embargoes. They are standard Kelly chassis, carry our regular guarantee and are backed by a service that only fifteen years of marketing trucks can produce.

While a number of models are now available, this condition cannot last. We urge immediate inspection.

INDIA DEMANDS NATIONAL RULE WITHIN EMPIRE

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[By Special Cable.]
LONDON, June 13.—Further evidence of the restoration of normal conditions in the British empire was furnished by Lord Sinha of Raipur, under secretary of state for India, in an exclusive interview this morning.

and that anti-British agitation is dying down.

Strong Nationalist Movement.

"There is not the slightest separatist opinion in India," the undersecretary said, "although national sentiment is growing stronger all the time. That full self-government within the British empire means, however, a desire for India seriously believe it would be possible or good for India to be independent."

"The only difference between the so-called extremists and the moderates is that the extremists want a full measure of home rule immediately, while the moderates believe it is better to take it by installments."

"We have no political crime in India, and conditions, for instance, are not half so serious as in Ireland."

Fears Moslem Reaction.

"We are passing through an anxious time at present on account of the Turkish caliphate agitation. Remember, we have between seventy and eighty millions of Moslems in India, and the Indian Moslem is devoted to his religion. I don't think in any circumstances they would revolt, but a settlement which they thought ideal to their religion would leave them sore, discontented, and angry. It is impossible to say now what the result will be, but I am sure it will depend how settlements are taken in Turkey itself."

"Soreness among the Moslems might react on the Hindus, for there is a growing sentiment of Indian unity and nationalism, although I must again emphasize that nationalism does not mean breaking the British connection, which every sensible Indian knows is necessary for the safety of India."

"Our greatest problem now is education. The Indian is eager for learning and possesses a keen, receptive mind. We must teach them to read first, then teach them political intelligence. I have no fear of the result; Indians are more spiritually minded than the western peoples, and are not likely to be led astray by specious agitators, once they have an opportunity to study and examine problems for themselves."

EGYPTIAN PASHA IN LONDON AFTER LAND'S FREEDOM

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[By Special Cable.]
LONDON, June 13.—Saad Zagloul Pasha, leader of the Egyptian Nationalists, who has come to England on the invitation of the British government to confer regarding the future government of Egypt, declared this morning in an exclusive interview he saw no reason why a fair compromise should not be reached between Egypt and Great Britain.

"The word compromise means," the pasha said, "seeing that the British interests in Egypt don't collide with the Egyptian national claim, which is for complete independence. Why should they? In what respect do they conflict?"

"The Suez canal is by international treaty free for all nations. There is not a British soldier guarding it, and none is needed. Egypt is ready and able to safeguard the canal herself. There is no threat to India through Egypt. We are willing to go half way to satisfy England and ready to give any reasonable guarantees which would be embodied in treaties between the two countries. It is quite impossible, however, to admit England's right to maintain an army in Egypt or to control Egypt's foreign policy."

Zagloul Pasha said that conferences with British officials hadn't yet begun. He denied emphatically that any liaison existed between the Egyptian Nationalists and the Irish or Turks.

"We care nothing about these questions. We are not interested in Turkey or the position of the caliphate. We are only interested in the freedom and progress of Egypt. And why shouldn't we obtain it? England is a noble nation and is under pledges to evacuate Egypt and to restore us our country. We expect she will keep her word."

POLISH MISSION SLAIN BY REDS IN BAKU, REPORT

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[By Special Cable.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 13.—Four civilians, including an American relief worker, escaping to Tiflis from Baku, report the Polish mission there has been murdered. The members of other foreign missions in that territory have been stripped of their uniforms and forced to clean streets. The murder report is unconfirmed.

Fourteen relief workers en route to Batoum probably will be returned here upon their arrival.

Evacuation of Batoum is a political rather than a military measure, as the British report they are sufficiently strong to hold the territory indefinitely. Absorption of the Georgians and Armenians by the Turks and Russian Reds is expected after the allied withdrawal.

Boycott of Irish Police to Stop Families' Food

DUBLIN, June 13.—A general boycott against the Irish constabulary was proclaimed throughout County Leitrim today by the Irish republican army. Enforcement will stop supplies of food, milk, and other necessities to the police and their wives and children.

Another Constable Killed.

BELFAST, June 13.—Another policeman, Constable King, was murdered at Glengarriff, County Cork, last night.

Krassin Waits on Lenin for Answer to London

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[By Special Cable.]

LONDON, June 13.—The bolshevik trade envoy, Krassin, still is unable to give the guarantees demanded by Great Britain. He has not heard from Moscow and is waiting for a reply to his questions. There will be no further meeting with Mr. Lloyd George until he has something definite to say.

Where do you expect to go when you DYE?

Solves the Problem

You Go There Because Inecto-Rapid Gives You the Color You Want

IT WILL GIVE YOU DELICATE ASH-SHADES AS EASILY AS THE DARK BROWNS. IT REQUIRES NO SHAMPOOING BEFORE THE PROCESS. THERE ARE NO FAILURES AND NO STREAKED HAIR.

AFTER INECTO-RAPID IS USED THERE IS NO NEED TO FEAR THAT FREQUENT WETTING OF THE HAIR WILL CAUSE THE COLOR TO RUN.

YOU CAN SHAMPOO THE HAIR AS OFTEN AS YOU WISH, BATHE IN THE SEA, TAKE TURKISH OR HOT BATHS, APPLY LOTIONS, HAVE YOUR HAIR PERMANENTLY WAVED; IN FACT THERE IS NOTHING YOU CANNOT DO.

FURTHER, INECTO-RAPID IS SO EASY TO USE THAT THOUSANDS OF WOMEN OF FRANCE, ENGLAND, BELGIUM, ITALY AND OTHER EUROPEAN COUNTRIES HAVE APPLIED IT SUCCESSFULLY IN THE PRIVACY OF THEIR OWN HOMES. WOMEN OF AMERICA CAN NOW DO THE SAME.

EACH OUTFIT OF "INECTO-RAPID" CONTAINS FULL AND SIMPLE DIRECTIONS. THERE IS NO TEDIOUS PRELIMINARY SHAMPOO TO BE GONE THROUGH. YOU ONLY LEAVE "INECTO-RAPID" ON THE HAIR FIFTEEN MINUTES. NO DRYING IS NECESSARY. YOU CAN APPLY TO JUST A GRAY LOCK AT THE SIDES OR TEMPLES, OR TO THE ENTIRE HAIR. ANY TENDENCY TO NATURAL WAVINESS IS NOT INTERFERED WITH. HAIR LOTIONS, TONICS, DRESSINGS, OR BRILLIANTINE HAVE NO DETRIMENTAL EFFECT.

ALCONQUIN OPEN TOMORROW FOR SUFFERING POOR

Tribune Camp Ready for
First Group of Season.

A vagrant spring breeze—breathlessly hot—bearing the odors of a heavily congested neighborhood, stirred down a west side street yesterday.

A group of children lined a shady curbstone. Every doorway was crowded with shirt-sleeved men and wrapper-clad women. On the bottom step of one building sat little Ignatz. Ignatz is 2 years old, listless, eyes drooping, thin, emaciated.

Ignatz was the subject of conversation among the kids on the curb. "Ignatz will be all right after Tuesday," said Jakey, 13. "My ma said so. These, she's gonna take him to the country. Algonquin or something like dat. Free for poor mudders and kids."

The Mother's First Vacation.

On the second floor, rear, sat Mrs. K—, mother of Ignatz and Jakey. With her were Bertha and Rose, 17 and 15 years, respectively. Rose and Bertha are two cousins of Mrs. K's six children. Both work. "Just think," remarked Bertha, "this will be your first vacation, ma." Mrs. K— smiled weakly. Her husband is dead. He had no insurance. She had a new born babe. She had to wear the youngster and secure employment in a laundry. Ignatz did not thrive on cow's milk. Neither did his mother improve her health at the laundry. Both are anemic.

But both are going to be rehabilitated. With sixty other mothers and children, they will leave tomorrow for Tribune's hospital and camp at Algonquin, where they will regain their health through the medium of fresh air, wholesome food, and the care of a staff of nurses under Mrs. Laura J. Collier.

Two Weeks in Country.

Sixty additional mothers and children will depart each day for five days, and will remain at the camp and hospital for two weeks, when others on the waiting list will take their places.

There are other unfortunate mothers and babies like Mrs. K— and her son. It is worth while to send others like them to Algonquin, where their lives may be saved. The Tribune's camp and hospital has five ideal buildings for the purpose, and 500 patients can be cared for at one time.

The Tribune wants to keep the place filled to capacity for the summer so that as many as possible can be given the treatment they need. Funds to insure this purpose should be sent at once to the Algonquin Hospital and Camp fund.

Those who wish to insure free ice for other poor families can send money to The Tribune Free Ice fund.

$50,000 GEM THEFT ON CONVENTION TRAIN GOING EAST

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 13.—[Special.]

Diamonds and other jewelry valued at more than $50,000 disappeared today from a state room on a special train carrying delegates from the Republican convention in Chicago to New York.

The jewels were the property of Mrs. Arthur Whitney, wife of State Senator Arthur Whitney of Morristown, N. J.

The loss was discovered while the train was speeding between Alliance, O., and Pittsburgh. The train was held in the yards here nearly an hour while railroad police and detectives conducted an investigation.

According to members of the train crew, Mrs. Whitney and her husband left their compartment when the train stopped for a few minutes in the Alliance, O., station. The jewels were in a small handbag.

When the train had left the station, Senator Whitney and his wife returned to the compartment and found the handbag open and the jewels missing. The conductor and a detective interviewed passengers who were in the car. None of them had noticed any one enter the compartment. The search here failed to reveal any trace of the missing jewels.

A Word to Owners of Small Cars About Buying Tires Now

You know that every summer, for the past four years, there has been a shortage of Goodyear Tires in the 30 x 3-, 30 x 3½- and 31 x 4-inch sizes.

Although we have now in full operation the world's largest tire factory devoted to these sizes, we cannot guarantee to supply all needs this year.

So if you want true Goodyear mileage and economy this summer for your Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell or other car taking these sizes, we counsel you to act at once.

The sure way to avert disappointment later is to go to your nearest Service Station Dealer and buy Goodyear Tires and Heavy Tourist Tubes now.

30 x 3½ Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread $23.50
30 x 3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost no more than the price you are asked to pay for tubes of less merit—why risk costly casings when such sure protection is available? $4.50

SHOULD KENNA GO TO FRISCO WITH DALRYMPLE?

Problem of Conduct Confronts Alderman.

Mr. Michael Kenna, lord paramount of the First ward, is in the throes of an internal struggle. To go or not to go, that is the question. Whether it is noble as a "regular" Democrat to stifle personal dislike and prejudices and attend the San Francisco convention, or whether it is nobler as a "wet" to forget party stick by principles, and not to go.

Mr. Kenna is the man responsible for the dilemma in which the ruler of the First finds himself.

The major, with the eye to the main chance, is a federal official, is going to Frisco. Moreover, he is going with the party with which Kenna intended to travel—one of 100 local Democrats, headed by George E. Brennan, who took Roger Sullivan's place as chairman of the delegation.

Mr. Kenna is distracted. Kenna was in hot water enough even before the major decided to make the trip. He had been reluctant to go as a delegate to the Frisco convention from the First district, in which his ward is located.

He tried to avoid the honors thrust upon him because of this problem of conduct.

His two fetishes are "party regularity" and devotion to the cause of the wet. As a regular he might be expected to sit silent while the solid fifty-eight votes of Illinois were "delivered" to A. Mitchell Palmer, who is something of a dry. As a wet he might be expected to protest.

He thought he saw a solution. He'd accept, but make what as a "regular" is regarded as impossible conditions. "I'll go if you count my votes for Edwards," was his ultimatum.

To his surprise—and some say to his disappointment—it was accepted. "Sure you can vote for Edwards," he was told by the party leaders.

Then comes New Problem. But that was before he knew that Maj. Dalrymple was to be a traveling companion.

As the alderman does not soliloquize alone, he was called on the telephone last night by a Tribune reporter. "What's Kenna there?"

"What's Kenna there?" "What's Kenna there?" "What's Kenna there?" "What's Kenna there?"

Funeral is Off at Request of Angry Corpse.

Today's Tribune printed a paid notice announcing to the world that Louis L. Sigel of 1230 South Kedzie avenue had died and would be buried at Waldheim cemetery tomorrow.

About 10 o'clock a young man strode into the office. His face conveyed the impression that he was—well, a wee bit annoyed.

"What's the matter?" he asked. "What's the matter?" "What's the matter?" "What's the matter?"

Wife Fires 2 Shots When Husband Starts to Fight.

There was a mild flurry of excitement in the vicinity of 3727 Elaine street yesterday when neighbors heard a shot fired. They phoned the police station. The police arrived to learn that Fred A. Butterfield, special agent in charge of the Western Union, had been engaged in a fight with his wife and she had fired two shots into the floor to break him off.

CHICAGO QUITE SATISFIED WITH ITS 2,701,212

Pleased Over 23.6 Pct. Increase.

Chicago settled back yesterday and smiled over the census figures. Hopes that had been raised by the "horn" and other boosters fell a bit when the government could only account for 2,701,212 citizens. But the people looked at the 23.6 per cent increase and decided it was quite fair enough.

James B. Forgan, president of the First National bank, said he had hoped for 3,000,000, but he was well pleased with the showing made.

"I expect the major to accompany me," he said. "I'll go with you." "I'll go with you." "I'll go with you." "I'll go with you."

All We Need Is Houses.

John M. Glenn, secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, asserted he was not disappointed.

"We would have as many people as New York if we took in the same territory," he said. "However, we are growing fast—why, the increase is almost 25 per cent. Now if the labor unions would just permit us to build some houses we'd have a regular town."

Charles H. Wacker, president of the Chicago Plan commission, said he had known for some time that the rate of increase had dropped.

"We of the plan commission believe," he said, "that if the improvements we have planned are carried out the rate will rise again. It used to be 75 per cent a year and during the last four years it dropped to 40 per cent."

Baird Disappointed.

Wyllis W. Baird, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, admitted that he was disappointed.

"I cannot account for it all," he said. "It may have been caused by the labor situation during the last four years. You know other cities offered higher wages than we could in Chicago."

CITY SNAPS INTO "SUNLIGHT TIME" WITH ARMY SPEED

Daylight Law Starts with Little Confusion.

And the best of all ways To lengthen our days Is to steal a few hours from the night, my dear.

TOM MOORE.

Some people were late for church yesterday morning. Some missed their dinners. But, all in all, the city happily adjusted itself to the new daylight saving ordinance.

There was little confusion in adjusting the new time schedule with the outside world. The mails arrived as usual and will be delivered today according to the new time. Collections will be made as usual. All through trains will operate by standard time, but suburban schedules have been moved up an hour. It is expected all business houses will adopt the new schedule, starting today. The banks will continue to open at 9 o'clock.

Towns May Fall Into Line.

Some confusion was caused yesterday by the fact many towns and villages within the suburban zone did not change their time. Many suburbs are considering the proposition. Delinquent action is expected within the week.

A peculiar situation exists along the north shore. Evanston and Wilmette have changed time, as have North Chicago and Waukegan, while all the towns "in between" are still "on the fence." This situation, however, is one of the obvious first day annoyances which will disappear with the increasing advantages of daylight saving.

What of Cleveland?

At the La Salle street station a Cleveland man loudly demanded information.

"Did Cleveland change?" "I don't know," replied the human question box behind the counter—stumped for once.

"I gotta know," asserted the Clevelander. "New York changed—Chicago changed—Detroit changed; why, all of the big cities have changed. Cleveland must have, too."

Nearly all of the towns in the west suburban district have changed, including Elgin, Aurora, turned the proposition down. Wheaton votes on it today. Every town except Whiting and East Chicago in the southern district has changed, including Gary.

Churches Adopt New Time.

Church services will be held according to the new time. Archbishop Mundelein announced all services in Catholic churches will conform to the new schedule.

Out at Lincoln park the lions, tigers, monkeys, elephants, sealions—in fact, all the animals—were fed an hour earlier, according to "stomach time."

"I'll say I am," he grunted. "Don't try to talk with your mouth full," she reproved.

STEAM SHOVEL MEN STRIKE FOR $1.50 PER HOUR

Excavation work for new buildings which was to have started today has been postponed indefinitely through a strike of seventy-five steam shovel engineers. They have been receiving $1.05 an hour. They demand $1.50 an hour.

Negotiations ended last Wednesday when the Chicago Contracting Team Owners' association refused to grant the increase. Eddie Moore, president of the Hitting and Portable Engineers' union, local 865, said last night.

He saved His Uncle, and Now He'll Save His Money.

Samuel Cooper, 6154 Broadway, celebrated his 18th birthday yesterday and today intends to claim the $50,000 legacy left him by his uncle, Ephraim Cooper, of Warren county, N. Y. Sam, on a vacation visit to his uncle's estate, on the Hudson, rescued the old man from drowning. That was about four years ago. A year later Uncle Ephraim died, leaving the money to his nephew—to be given him when he had reached the age of 18. Samuel says he's going to put the money in the bank.

Mr. Koons said children did not come within the classification of "harmless live animals, which do not require food or water while in transit."

WOMEN ANNOYER LANDED IN CELL BY GIRL'S SLAP

The complainant in the case was Miss Helen Barnard, 18 years old, 533 East Thirty-fourth street.

According to the story told the police by Miss Barnard, and later confirmed by Shields, they had occupied adjoining seats in the Oakwood Square moving picture theater, Oakwood and Drexel boulevard.

"He brushed against me," said Miss Barnard. "I slapped his face. He ran out the aisle and into the lobby. I followed with my escort."

"The entire audience followed us and a policeman who was on the sidewalk shot at the man. He ceased running."

The policeman was South Park Patrolman C. F. Tooney.

An hour of a cell improved Shields' memory and he made a confession to Detective Sergeant James Connelly.

"I didn't know she had an escort," he said. "Something told me to flirt with her and I did. She slapped me all right and I decided it was time to go."

Shields said he had been arrested two weeks ago for annoying a boy, but the case against him was dismissed. He also admitted attacking several women.

"When they screamed I ran," he said. "The police are confident they have finally arrested the mysterious man who has been terrorizing the neighborhood of Thirty-ninth street and Cottage Grove avenue for a fortnight."

2 SLAIN, 1 DYING, AS DAY'S SCORE OF GUN AFFRAYS

Man Killed by Gang as Hymn Is Sung.

Chicago's crime score totalled two men dead, one man dying, two others shot, many arrests, some captured booze, and numerous attempted hold-ups yesterday.

Across the street from the Clybourn Inn, 1215 Clybourn avenue, a little band of street missionaries had taken up their place.

Paul G. Torina, said by the police to be a confidence man, Black Hand, and bootlegger, sat on a chair on the sidewalk in front of the cafe.

The missionaries were singing the opening bars of "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Five Men Kill Torina.

Five men ran out of the hotel door. The first hit Torina on the head. Two others fired. Torina was shot three times in the chest, once in the neck, once in the forehead and once in the abdomen. He died instantly.

Motorman Thomas L. Fleutje, 920 Center street, had stopped his car at the crossing. He saw the shooting—scarce fifteen feet away. The slayers dropped their guns. Fleutje, jumping from his car, picked them up.

"Say anything about this and we'll croak you, too," the killers said to him as they fled.

The police arrived. Two minutes later John Celono, 822 Milton avenue, one of the owners of the hotel, walked into the place.

"What's the matter?" he asked. Celono was escorted to the waiting wagon by Lieut. Bart Fleming and Sgt. Fred Kemper. Witnesses say they saw him at the time of the shooting run through the inn.

Find Letters from Women.

Torina, an Italian, took out his first naturalization papers in Pittsburgh, Pa., giving his address there as 2210 Penn street, on Jan. 2, 1919. He has been arrested here several times.

For the last week he has lived at the Astor hotel. Among his papers were found a letter from Mrs. E. Torina in Pittsburgh, another from a woman who signed the initial "E," and who begged him to come back to her; cards of several detectives and the private telephone number of Chief of Detectives Mooney. Papers found there, the police say, also implicate him as agent of a gang of bootleggers.

"He was a bad man," said Detective Sergeant Anthony Gentile of the homicide squad, "up to all kinds of things. Perhaps he was killed for revenge by a gang of thieves. Maybe they believed he was a stool pigeon."

Lieut. Fleming thinks the notorious "Gloriana gang" is responsible for the slaying.

Don Nuccio, said to be the leader of the gang, walked into the Chicago avenue station early this morning and surrendered. He said he had heard the police were looking for him in connection with "that shooting."

Colored Man Slain.

Hartan Branch, colored, 31 years old, Twenty-third avenue, Melrose Park, and William Henning, also colored, of the same address, got into an argument at Twenty-third and Lake streets yesterday afternoon. Henning says Branch drew a knife on him. Branch was shot three times and killed. Henning was arrested.

Joseph Philip, 18 years old, 917 West Park place, was fatally wounded and Joseph Corbo, 20 years old, shot through the abdomen when three Greeks attacked them with revolvers at West Adams and South Green streets.

According to Philip's story, Charles Christoff, one of the Greeks, met him early in the evening and accused him of stealing some money. The other two men under arrest for the shooting are Alex Yanakoff and Walter Robett.

Stopped by Three Men; Shoots One.

Three men stopped Charles Noble, 63 West Sixty-seventh street, at Sixty-sixth street and Normal avenue last night. Noble drew a gun.

William Pryor, 31 years old, 7231 South Carpenter street, was shot in the jaw. Policemen Carmody and Powers of Englewood station, hurrying to the scene, caught John Lattin, 29 years old, 867 West Sixty-third street, and Roy Lancaster, 34 years old, 6506 South May street.

ALMOST LOSES HIS LIFE TO SAVE DROWNING BOY

A bit of heroism that nearly cost the life of J. E. Spanier, 1131 Rush street, drew a crowd of 1,000 people to the lake at the foot of Ohio street last night.

Bernard Horwich, 11 years old, 2949 Kendall street, was playing on a ladder that extended above the pier and over the water, and fell into the lake. The waves washed the boy out into the lake. His screams grew fainter.

Then J. E. Spanier dived. A hundred feet from shore he sank below the surface. Coming up, he struck out again. Just as Spanier reached for the boy both sank, but came up a few seconds later Spanier, almost exhausted, caught Bernard by the hair and started for the shore. But the waves were strong and Spanier was almost exhausted when some one threw out a life preserver, which Spanier seized and both were pulled ashore.

Man Killed Had Drugs Valued at $100,000

Cleveland, O., June 13.—A man having drugs valued at about $100,000, said by the police to be part of a large quantity recently stolen from a Philadelphia drug house, was arrested here today. Two suitcases filled with cocaine, morphine and opium were seized. The man is connected with a drug ring operating in Toledo, New York, Detroit and Cleveland, according to the police.

HUTCHINSON AND AYTON CAPTURE MATCH BY 15 UP

Finishing 15 up for seventy-two holes, Jock Hutchinson and Laurie Ayton, professional, defeated Chick Evans and Charles H. Mayo, Edgewater professional, in their special best ball foursome exhibition match at Edgewater.

The first thirty-three holes of the match were played Friday. Evans led the players in yesterday's forenoon round with a score of 38-38.

71, cutting Hutchinson and Ayton's first day lead from 15 to 11 holes, but the latter pair picked up their morning losses and added two more holes to their string in the afternoon.

Loos Beats Diegel, 3 and 2.

Eddie Loos, Ravinia professional, evened his score with Leo Diegel, South Shore "pro," by winning his return thirty-six hole exhibition match, 3 and 2, at Ravinia. Diegel won the first match at South Shore last Sunday, 2 up.

Diegel started with a burst of speed, winning the first two holes, but Loos took the next three. Loos continued his lead and finished the first eighteen holes up. On the return trip Diegel did not win a single hole, while his opponent took the tenth and thirteenth and halved the remainder. Cards:

MISS RODKIN STAR IN TRACK MEET OF CITY ZONE SERIES

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Excellent performance by Miss Rose Rodkin, well known woman athlete of the Chicago Hebrew institute, featured the preliminaries in the west zone of the city-wide track and field championships held yesterday at the institute athletic field.

Three events were staged for women, Miss Rodkin winning two. She captured first place in the fifty yard dash in 37.45, and was first in the century in 1:34.

Miss Helen McCauley of Sinaloa center took first in the running broad jump with 12 feet 4 inches, and was third in the fifty yard dash.

Good Entry in Women's Events.

The three events brought out a large entry, which shows the Amateur Athletic union soon will have to recognize women's track and field athletics the same as it does swimming.

With the stars of the big clubs conspicuous by their absence, the athletes representing the smaller organizations had the most to themselves. Although no exceptional marks were made, the competition was close and interesting.

Goldstein High Point Winner.

Individual honors went to H. Goldstein of the institute, who scored 15 points. A Stastney of Western Electric A. A. was second with 13. Winners of first, second, and third places qualified for the finals, which will be conducted by the Elks in Grant park on July 5.

QUESTIONS THEY ASK.

CHICAGO.—[To the Editor.]—(1) Would covering an old steel rod from butt to tip with windings silk improve it any? (2) Should the silk be varnished? (3) Are the file proof steel guides as good as the agate?

E. L. F.

Answers.—[1] It would make it stronger and perhaps improve its action somewhat. [2] Yes, give it two coats of good spar or varnish. [3] Not as pretty, but they seem to be as hard, and being in use places they are less likely to be broken.

Chicago.—[To the Editor.]—(1) Have tried to make dough balls for carp bait but never had any luck. How is it done? (2) May I use a set line extending from one side of the Desplaines river to the other? G. E.

H. M. S.

Answers.—[1] Make a thick batter with water and red dog flour—4 holes together better than white flour—roll into balls of desired size and drop into a run of boiling water; when they come to the top, plunge them into cold water, which will toughen them. [2] Unless a set line is used where there is no river traffic and is hauled in every morning it is advisable to run it across a stream, as the first motorboat that comes along may run it all up for you; no law against it, however.

Chicago.—[To the Editor.]—(1) Are the dogfish caught in inland lakes good to eat? (2) How is the fishing now at Fox and Grass lakes?

H. M. S.

Answers.—[1] The fish is a bit soft but the flavor is not bad; they are excellent smoked. [2] Haven't been up to standard so far but improving right along; from now on it ought to be good.

Chicago.—[To the Editor.]—What is meant by "giving the butt"? when it is necessary, and how is it done?

Beginner.

Answers.—"Giving the butt" is a fisherman's term, meaning to put the strain of the rod on a hooked fish. It is necessary only when you want to prevent a fish getting into a bad place or to make him go where you will. It is done by raising the tip and depressing and pushing forward on the butt.

PEEL SOCCER CUP TO BRICKLAYERS

Truesdale's goal in the last five minutes of an extra half-hour period, which was ordered by the referee after the Bricklayers and Olympia soccer teams were tied 1-1 at the end of the regulation ninety minutes, the Bricklayers became the 1920 Peel Cup champions.

Weather conditions proved a hardship to the players, who are not accustomed to playing at this time of the year, and as a result "Babe" Kelly, who was the outstanding player for the Olympia, was overcome by the heat and had to be taken to the People's hospital after the game.

The first goal came late in the first half by Jack Heath. Babe Kelly, 20 year old inside right, put the game on even terms in the second chapter.

Englewood and Harrison Nines Clash This Morning

Englewood and Harrison will clash in a semi-final game for the Chicago High school league baseball championship at Riverview park at 9 o'clock this morning.

Englewood played a 9 to 9 tie with Lane last Friday, while Harrison trimmed Parker, 11 to 4. Bryson, who finished the Lane game, will probably hurl for Englewood.

WASHINGTON PARK CASTING.

14 SCHOOLS MEET ON TRACK TODAY

Fourteen schools will compete in the annual track and field meet of the Chicago High School league at River-view park today, as a part of Mayor Thompson's "boost Chicago" flag day program.

Preliminaries in all but four senior events and three in the junior class were held at the Douglas park playground Saturday, and the events today will be confined to final heats.

BOYS' LEAGUE MEETS TONIGHT.

The Chicago Boys' Baseball league will hold its regular weekly meeting tonight at 6:30 p. m. at the city hall, public hearing room. Managers and players are invited to attend. Free lance games will be scheduled for next Sunday.

MELICHAR BOXES GUNBOAT SMITH AT EAST CHICAGO

Chicago fight fans will have a chance to see Tony Melichar in action again June 26, when he meets Gunboat Smith at George Oaweg's East Chicago arena in a ten round bout.

Kid Howard, manager of Melichar, announced the matching of these heavy-weight gloves yesterday last night.

Melichar is the best heavyweight performer in the Chicago district, and, although beaten by Battling Levinsky in a recent bout at Milwaukee, showed enough to his supporters were not discouraged.

Oaweg's arena at East Chicago is completed and ready for the Freedman-O'Keefe bout next Saturday. The arena has a seating capacity of nearly 10,000 and is said to have cost in the neighborhood of $50,000.

How one printer showed a big manufacturer the way to double his business

A FEW years ago two brothers were engaged in a small furniture manufacturing business. It was profitable, but neither was satisfied with the volume of sales. One day their Printer came in and asked for an opportunity to present a sales idea he had worked out.

He advised circularizing the retail stores in the state and the near-by states as an entering wedge on an intensive selling campaign.

After some discussion the plan was finally approved and the order given to go ahead.

A few days after the necessary circulars, order blanks and self-addressed envelopes had been mailed, the elder brother, who at first had been somewhat on the fence, broke excitedly into the Printer's office.

The circular letter had swamped the firm with orders.

This incident occurred a few years ago. Today it is more nearly representative of the ideals of good Printers than ever before.

"Printing salesmanship is becoming more and more a matter of constructive service—less and less estimating and price quoting."

10 years ago the Printer was an order chaser. Today he is contributing constructive ideas to business

A NEW day has come in the Printing Industry. Competition between Printers has given way to closer relations between Printer and buyer. Here is a development that buyers of printing are finding it profitable to recognize.

The United Typothetae of America, the largest association of employing printers in the world, has for some years encouraged its members to devote themselves more to the real business problems of their customers, less to estimating on work already in existence.

To further this development, the U. T. A. has established branches in 105 cities. Its "Three Year Plan" calls for the expenditure of $500,000 a year for educational work.

6,000 students are studying its courses in selling, advertising, cost finding, estimating, accounting and the broader phases of printing.

*NOTE—In general where the term "Printer" is used in this announcement, it refers not only to the printer who does the actual printing, but also to the offset printer, the lithographer, the engraver and the stationer.

Among other things the U. T. A. has established, at its general offices in Chicago, an Advertising Bureau. This Bureau does not compete with advertising agencies. Yet it does supply to members, on request, and on a definite fee basis, a real service in the preparation of direct-by-mail advertising and layouts.

Less price competition between Printers— more service to the customer

Printers are no longer competing among themselves on a purely price basis, as in the days when it was thought there was no other consideration in printing than cost. They are now giving constructive suggestions and advice. They are obtaining RESULTS FOR THE BUYER.

The whole theory of getting estimates from 15 or 20 Printers is today recognized as fundamentally wrong. "You might just as well get competitive estimates from a doctor or a lawyer," is the way one prominent business man puts it.

To buyers of printing everywhere the American Writing Paper Company makes these recommendations:

Do not get twenty competitive bids from twenty Printers and give the work to the man with the lowest estimate.

The trade mark of the association of employing printers, one of the greatest organizations of its kind in the world.

Select your Printer on the basis of service rather than price. Give him the facts about your business policies and methods. Furnish him with a basis for constructive criticisms and suggestions, and then maintain a permanent business relationship with him.

Let your Printer co-operate and work with you rather than merely work for you. Be open-minded to your Printer's suggestions.

Your Printer is the one best qualified to select the right paper for the particular job. He is in a position to help you effect real economies—improve quality—bring RESULTS.

"Discovering New Facts About Paper"
All the remarkable accomplishments of the American Writing Paper Company are described in detail in a new book by one of the foremost practical scientists in the United States. This book, "Discovering New Facts About Paper," contains information of the greatest value to everyone who uses or deals in paper. Write for a complimentary copy to the American Writing Paper Company, Holyoke, Mass.

Who should be the judge of paper value?

ALTHOUGH between 30% and 40% of the cost of printing is the single item of paper, how many Printers have been informed regarding the scientific facts behind the paper they buy?

Ink absorption, color, dirt, opacity, surface and strength—how can the average Printer know he is getting exactly what he wants for a particular job—that what he gets represents good value?

Appearance is of course a rough measure; but appearance isn't enough.

Only the manufacturer can know his product in detail—the materials that go to make it, the processes involved, the tests it will stand.

The manufacturer today must therefore supply the facts on the basis of which the Printer can judge for himself. And the Printer's customer must depend on the Printer for the specification of the paper.

Putting the responsibility up to science

It was to meet the growing need for such facts on the part of Printers, that the American Writing Paper Company early last year appropriated $225,000 to expand its Scientific Research Laboratory.

The ideas of the superintendents, foremen and mill men in the 26 mills give the scientists the starting points of many important discoveries. Then after these ideas have been perfected by the Research Laboratory, the mill men put them to practical test and bring them into successful operation.

One thousand of these mill men have been with the Company for more than 10 years; 500 for more than 20; many even longer. These men represent the craft skill in the making of paper that it has taken centuries to perfect.

Neither the scientific nor the practical men are alone sufficient. Their co-operation is ideal.

This Laboratory is now the greatest in the paper industry. Quality, uniformity, standardized value—these are its aims.

The day is near when all paper will be sold not on the basis of a quick inspection by the buyer, but on the strength of a label or guarantee that will give all the facts that the paper user has a right to know, that will sum up all the standards that have prevailed in the making.

The Printer is the creative force in the Printing Industry and should be the one to consult in specifying the grade and finish of paper to be used in any particular work.

It is the policy of the American Writing Paper Company to send its samples to customers through the Printers and Paper Merchants.
